Nixon in India Presses Peace Theme

NEW DELHI (UPI)—President Nixon called today for a generation of uninterrupted peace in India, Asia and the world. He challenged Soviet efforts to set up so-called security arrangements with the major nations of Asia.

Nixon flew here from Bangkok near the end of his Asian tour and began immediate conferences with Mrs. Indira Gandhi, the Indian prime minister, on the problems besetting her country—its economic difficulties and India's fears of its neighbors, Red China and Pakistan.

And in a statement issued after a tour of the capital where he was welcomed by an estimated 100,000 Indians, Nixon told Mrs. Gandhi what she wanted to hear—that Asian problems must be solved by Asians without the influence of outside big powers.

"We respect India's way, emphasizing national independence while accepting the interdependence of nations," Nixon said. "We firmly believe that Asian problems must be solved by the people of Asia. But we stand ready to help."

In the background were recent Soviet explorations aimed at setting up security arrangements in Asia by grouping nations along the Russian border into what Moscow hoped would be a pro-Russian bloc. India, which opposes all military groupings, has been cool to the idea while hoping for some form of economic cooperation.

American sources said Nixon also was making it clear the United States was firmly opposed to participating in any sort of scheme designed to produce blocs in Asia, especially blocs under Soviet protection.

Nixon, in an arrival speech in the presence of Mrs. Gandhi and the acting president, stood on a scarlet draped platform with his wife Pat and other dignitaries and recalled a visit 16 years ago when he was vice president and was received by the late Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru, Mrs. Gandhi's father.

Nixon said Nehru told him 16 years ago that what the world needed most was a "generation of uninterrupted peace."

"That was true then; it is even more true now," Nixon said. "We did not succeed over these past 16 years in beginning that generation of uninterrupted peace. And our major goal will be to try to succeed now, in the dream that he had then—a generation of peace for India, for Asia, for the world."

Nixon flew in today from Bangkok after visiting the Philippines, Indonesia, Thailand and Vietnam. He flies Friday to Pakistan which fought a 17-day border war with India in 1965 and has close ties with Peking as well as the West. From there he flies to Communist Romania and England.

Major topics of discussion for Nixon and Mrs. Gandhi were the problems of U.S. arms supplies to Pakistan—she believes a resumption will threaten India. There was also the problem of Red China and how much a military threat it poses to India.

The major topic is U.S. aid to India. India has snapped out of a recession and come back from the drought which forced it to import huge quantities of wheat from the United States. But India needs money for economic development.

Mrs. Gandhi met with her cabinet throughout Wednesday to assess the previous statements made by Nixon on his Asian tour and how they fitted with a Soviet proposed Asian collective security system which is short of the military alliances India so thoroughly dislikes.

She was worried about what Indians call Sino-Pakistani "collusion" and possible resumption of American arms aid to Pakistan. The United States suspended arms aid to both countries after their 1965 war but India produces many of her own weapons and Pakistan does not.

Rolled Shirt Fabric Dresses Up Thruway

State Police closed the southbound lane of the Thruway for hours Wednesday while 11 tons of rolled shirt fabric that spilled from an overturned trailer about six miles south of Kingston were cleared from the superhighway. Troopers said Michael P. Kilinski, 26, of R.D. 4, Amsterdam, was operating a tractor-trailer owned by Leaseway Eastern of New York Inc., when the left front tire of the tractor blew out, causing the operator to lose control. The vehicle crossed the center mall and climbed an embankment causing the trailer to flip over on its side. The top of the trailer flew off dumping the cargo along the southbound lane and the shoulder of the highway. Traffic was directed around the scene of the mishap. Kilinski was cited for failure to maintain his log book up to date. He pleaded guilty before New Paltz Justice S. Parks Glenn and received an unconditional discharge, which is equivalent to a suspended sentence.

Ted Returns, Will Seek Reelection

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy is coming back to work—and Democratic strategists already are planning to make him a leading man in next year's congressional election campaign.

Kennedy, in a statement released Wednesday at his Boston office, said he will remain in the Senate, will seek re-election next year and, if he wins, will serve a full six-year term.

That would rule out any 1972 bid for the presidency which his brother, John, won in 1960 and which his brother, Robert, sought in 1968. Both were assassinated.

Edward Kennedy's announcement:

"Sen. Edward M. Kennedy is returning to Washington to resume his duties as United States senator and assistant majority leader.

"He is grateful to the people of Massachusetts for their expressions of confidence and expects to submit his record to them as a candidate for re-election in 1970.

"If re-elected, he will serve out his entire six-year term."

Not all Democrats were certain the disclaimer of 1972 presidential intentions would stick.

May Think Otherwise

'I'm certain Sen. Kennedy was sincere," said Sen. Daniel K. Inouye of Hawaii, "but the party may think otherwise."

If Kennedy is indeed out of the field, it would be cleared for such likely contenders as Hubert H. Humphrey, Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine, Sen. George S. McGovern of South Dakota, possibly Sen. Fred R. Harris of Oklahoma.

There had been silence but, among politicians, little suspense since Kennedy said in a July 25 television speech he was considering resigning his Senate seat because of his involvement in a fatal automobile accident one week earlier.

Kennedy asked the advice of his Massachusetts constituents. The response was an outpouring of messages, heavily in favor of his continued Senate service.

"So what else is new?" asked George D. Aiken of Vermont, dean of Senate Republicans, after Kennedy announced he would return. "Didn't you expect it?

"You don't think 30 million Democrats are going to stand by idly and see another Republican senator come here, do you?" said Aiken.

He apparently referred to the fact that any Massachusetts Senate vacancy would no doubt be filled by a Republican, since the state's governor, a Republican, would be expected to appoint a GOP member to the seat.

Most other Republicans were silent. "Should I have a reaction?" said Senate GOP Leader Everett M. Dirksen. "I haven't got one."

Democrats welcomed Kennedy's return.

"His decision is good for the country, for Massachusetts, for the Senate and for the Democratic party," said Sen. Harris, the Democratic national chairman.

Harris said he hopes Kennedy will be able to undertake party fund raising missions for the coming congressional campaign.

"We continue to have requests for him to speak," said Harris.

Sen. Inouye, chairman of the Senate Democratic campaign committee, said the group "has plans to utilize his many talents."

'I'm certain Sen. Kennedy will participate in campaigns outside his state," Inouye said.

Inouye said he had checked with Democrats who had asked for Kennedy's campaign help, and no one had changed his mind.

Heavy Fovorite

Kennedy is rated a top-heavy favorite in his own re-election bid in Massachusetts.

Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., said Massachusetts had given Kennedy the verdict of support he sought.

Even before the accident, McCarthy said, he considered the Democratic presidential situation "pretty fluid."

"I don't think Kennedy ever had the presidential thing locked up, three or four years before the convention," McCarthy said. "No one ever has —not even incumbents."

Kennedy had remained at his summer home in Hyannis Port, Mass., since the July 18 accident in which Mary Jo Kopechne drowned when the senator's car overturned off a narrow bridge on Chappaquiddick Island.

He entered a plea of guilty to leaving the scene of the accident.

Senate Racing the Deadline To Gain Extension of Surtax

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic leaders, banking on some party solidarity, hoped to push through a six-month extension of the 10 per cent surtax today only hours before it is due to die.

Republicans, however, planned an 11th hour attempt to squeeze through the full 12-month surtax extension sought by President Nixon.

Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, while standing pat on his contention there should be only a temporary surtax extension until work is completed on major tax reforms, relented somewhat Wednesday night and agreed to a surtax debate.

Mansfield said he was confident the six-month bill would pass his branch, but the Montana Democrat conceded there were other pitfalls to concluding action on the measure before midnight.

Sen. John J. Wlliams of Delaware, senior Republican member of the Finance Committee, had made it clear he would try to upset the Democratic plan by offering two amendments.

One would provide the full year's extension as in the House bill and the other would repeal the 7 per cent investment tax credit.

Mansfield said Democrats were pledged to repeal but would try to defeat the amendment at this time.

There was no guarantee the House, which has approved a year's extension, would go along with the Senate on a six-month bill, and Nixon previously rejected all Democratic proposals for anything less than a full year's extension.

Congress was working under the tightest possible schedule with the pay check surtax withholding rates due to expire at midnight. Most members of Congress agreed that if the surtax withholding rates were allowed to die tonight, it would be next to impossible to revive the surtax tself.

The impasse over the surtax extension continued through most of Wednesday with Democrats standing by their earlier demand for a five-month extension and Republicans remaining firm in their opposition.

After a long series of conferences involving Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen and many others, Mansfield apparently obtained the understanding he wanted.

The Democratic leader moved to put aside the Safeguard missile defense debate temporarily so the Senate could call up a bill which would be used for the surcharge extension.

Part of the agreement is that the Senate Finance Committee will work diligently on a major tax reform bill as soon as it arrives from the House and try to

Lodge Adopts Tough Line, Challenges Reds to Election

PARIS (UPI)—The United States, in its toughest negotiating statement yet, accused the Communists today of showing contempt for a democratic solution to the Vietnam War. Hanoi and the Viet Cong responded with new attacks on President Nixon.

U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge took his cue from Nixon's "no more concessions" statement in Saigon Wednesday and was joined by South Vietnamese negotiator Pham Dang Lam who charged the Communists had rejected offers of supervised elections because they knew they would lose.

Xuan Thuy, the chief Hanoi negotiator, said Nixon's visit to Saigon "far from contributing to a settlement" had made matters worse. The Viet Cong already had criticized Nixon's moves as a "blunt, shameless provocation."

"Your demands do not show faith in a democratic solution to the political problems of South Vietnam," Lodge said. "They show contempt for it."

Lodge's stance at today's 28th weekly session of the talks contrasted with his previous statements. He has usually avoided accusations, trying instead to persuade the Communist side to reconsider allied peace proposals.

"The obvious explanation of your attitude is that you think time will work to your advantage," Lodge said.

"If this is what you think, you make the same mistake that others have made who do not understand American history. You should realize the United States will not break its word."

"The United States will remain committed to our objective of giving the South Vietnamese people the opportunity for genuine self-determination," Lodge said.

2,770 more American troops will leave the Vietnam war zone Friday. Story Page 2.

"Of course, the United States wants peace as do all the people of South Vietnam. But if you continue to insist that our side accept your proposals without compromise or real negotation, progress in these talks will be locked and the responsibility will be yours."

The Saigon government's delegate said:

"You know better than anyone else that in fair elections your side will never win because contrary to your propaganda you do not enjoy the support of the people."

"You are also aware that if your side is unable to resort to fraudulent maneuvers or violence to coerce the people, you will not have the slightest chance of success," Lam said.

Thuy then criticized Nixon's visit to Saigon.

"It is clear that the visit of Mr. Nixon to Saigon, far from contributing to a settlement of the Vietnamese problem has increased the Vietnamese people's determination in their struggle against the American aggressors and their agents," Thuy said.

THE WAR—Battlefront reports tell of a lull in the fighting, but to the men in the combat areas war never ceases in its wretchedness. 2,770 GIs Leave Friday; Toll Lowest Since Jan. 4

SAIGON (UPI)—A total of 110 Americans died in battle last week, the fewest since the first week of the year. The battle lull responsible for the lower losses continued today.

Still Reatively Low

"The level of the fighting . . . around the Republic of Vietnam remains relatively low for most U.S. Army units, the official Army communique said.

The lull opened the way for Fridays departure of 2,770 more American troops from the war zone—the largest single contingent to leave since President Nixon's cutback plan began July 8.

Military spokesmen reporting last weeks casualties said another 1,056 U.S. servicemen were wounded last week. The death toll the lowest since the week ending Jan. 4 when 101 GIs died.

Last weeks casualty toll compared with 148 killed and 1,612 wounded the previous week, and 182 killed and 1,405 wounded the week before that, reflecting a significant drop in the number of deaths.

South Vietnamese spokesmen said government losses for last week were 290 killed and 83 wounded, while the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese lost 1,963 dead, according to Allied figures. The government casualties were only slightly lower than the previous week.

U.S. headquarters now lists 1,324 Americans missing in action or captured by the guerrillas.

The withdrawal of 2,770 troops Friday will bring to 10,370 the number of American GIs pulled out under Nixon's plan to cut back 25,000 men by September.

Pickup 3rd pgh: At least

At least 2,220 of those going home Friday will be Marines from the northern war zone, where U.S. artillery blasted apart a North Vietnamese base camp inside the Demilitarized Zone Wednesday, crushing 19 bunkers and setting three fires in fuel and ammunition.

The withdrawal will push to 10,070 the number of Americans sent home or to Okinawa so far. All the Leathernecks, including Friday's contingent, have been sent to Okinawa.

Military spokesmen announcing the DMZ incident Wednesday said the U.S. guns opened up when a spotter pilot reported receiving ground fire from the base camp. The spotter plane was not hit.

Hundreds of shells slammed into the North Vietnamese camp 200 yards inside the zone, killing four guerrillas besides knocking out the bunkers and setting the fires that erupted from fuel and ammo stores.

Bombers Join Fighting

About an hour later, the same U.S. artillerymen turned their guns around to support Marines in a five-hour battle three miles below the DMZ. Fighter-bombers joined the fighting.

War communiques said the Leathernecks killed 13 North Vietnamese soldiers while losing three dead and 12 wounded.

Under the so-called understanding that halted the bombing of North Vietnam, Hanoi was reported to have agreed to keep its troops out of the DMZ and refrain from shelling South Vietnam's major cities. Neither promise has been kept.

The bomb halt led to the full-scale talks in Paris which entered their 28th weekly meeting today with no signs of progress toward a negotiated settlement of the war.

Allied negotiators confronted the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese with President Nixon's statement, made in Saigon Wednesday, that the Allies had made enough concessions and now it was up to the Communist side to show its good will.

Factions on ABM Agree to a Vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — Both sides in the long Safeguard debate have agreed to a Senate vote next Tuesday or Wednesday on whether to bar deployment of the defensive missile system.

The outcome of the showdown remains in doubt with the Senate divided almost equally on an administration-opposed amendment limiting the Safeguard program to research.

Sens. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., and Albert Gore, D-Tenn., who blocked an earlier vote, said they are ready for a vote next week.

The Senate laid the antiballistic missile—ABM—measure aside late Wednesday for the first time since July 8 in order to work today on the income surtax.

As soon as that is finished the Senate is to return to the military procurement authorization bill which includes $759.1 million for Safeguard.

As the ABM showdown neared, Safeguard opponents claimed their 50th vote — one short of that needed to approve an amendment if the entire Senate should vote. The office of Sen. Warren G. Magnuson confirmed that the veteran Washington Democrat would oppose the ABM.

Although Magnuson was listed as leaning strongly against the ABM, he had not been included in the 49 votes claimed earlier for the amendment of Sens. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., and Philip A. Hart, D-Mich.

The opponents include in their number Sen. Mike Gravel, D-Alaska, who is formally uncommitted but has indicated privately he is opposed to the ABM.

Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., has declined to state his position, and Sen. Clinton P. Anderson, D-N.M., listed earlier as for Safeguard, insists he too is uncommitted. The other 48 senators are counted as for the ABM.

Gore said a tie vote seems in prospect, while Fulbright said he is optimistic. An amendment would lose on a tie.

There was no immediate indication that any minds were changed Wednesday by a disarmament subcommittee review of three secret Pentagon studies of missile defenses or the showing of a film intended to illustrate the vulnerability of an ABM system.

Fulbright conceded most of the senators he had hoped to sway with the movie showed little interest.

Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., who has disclosed he would oppose the ABM without modifications, announced his support today of the Cooper-Hart amendment.

Noting he had originally said he favored installation of radars and computers at the two initial Safeguard sites in Montana and North Dakota, Aiken said "information received since convinces me that to do so now is both unnecessary and unwise."

Living Cost Spiral Slows

There's a Glimmer of Light

WASHINGTON (AP) — The American consumer may be seeing a glimmer of light at the end of the long tunnel of inflation as new government figures indicate the soaring cost of living is slowing down.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics reported Wednesday a dramatic reduction in the upward rate of wholesale prices, most significantly in the cost of cattle.

Statistics showed cattle prices for the month that ended July 15 were down $1.60 per hundredweight from the mid-June figure of $29.60—an 18-year high.

In anticipating this drop, Agriculture Department economists said earlier in the week a fall off in the cost of cattle would lead to some reduction in the price of meat sold over the butcher counter.

However, several notes of caution have been introduced.

"You have to be careful about placing too much significance in one month's figures, but it does seem fairly significant," Arnold Chase, assistant commissioner of the Bureau of Labor Statistics, said.

And, Chase went on, it could be several months, perhaps not until October, before the drop in cattle prices will percolate down to the housewife in the form of lower meat costs.

Other, nongovernment, economists also entered a pessimistic note, saying consumer demand—fed by inflation and rising spending power—could override the cattle price drop at the retail level.

Last month, the average price for choice sirloin steak was $1.40 a pound—representing a 4.5 per cent jump over the previous month's cost of meat, poultry and fish. Last December sirloin cost $1.20 a pound.

A beef industry expert predicted earlier this week, "I don't think anybody in this country can expect to see $1 round steak again, and certainly not less than about $1.39 for sirloin."

Another problem affecting the outlook for lower meat prices is the possibility that increased processing and marketing costs will offset any immediate decline in cattle prices.

And some experts say the consumer should not be too encouraged by predictions that after holding steady for the last half-year cattle production will increase over the next six months.

For one thing, they point out, pork supplies are expected to decrease, which means the demand for beef will go up, resulting in stronger cattle prices.

In any case, economists said, cattle prices at mid-July—an average of $28 per hundredweight—were still $4 more than a year ago.

Syrian Planes Answer Back

By United Press International

Syrian bombers and fighters attacked the Israeli-occupied Golan Heights today and new fighting broke out in the area where Israeli warplanes on Wednesday strafed Arab guerrilla bivouacs in Syria.

A Syrian spokesman in Damascus said the Syrian air attack, the second since the 1967 Middle East War, was "in retaliation for enemy planes' aggressive actions against our positions."

Six Israeli warplanes attacked Syrian army positions in the foothills of Mt. Hermon in the Golan Heights Wednesday. The Syrian attack today was on Israeli troops in the same area, 25 miles southwest of Dascus. The communique said all the planes returned to their base safely.

The spokesman said Syrian artillery blasted Israeli artillery emplacements in the area of Quneitra, 40 miles south of Damascus.

Syria sent planes against Israel last month for the first time since the 1967 war and Israel claimed it shot down nine Syrian aircraft.

Military spokesmen in Tel Aviv said the ground fighting on the southern slopes of Mt. Hermon before dawn killed one Arab guerrilla and wounded one Israeli soldier.

Driver Cited After Crash

ESOPUS

Robert Eastment, 57, of Box 138, Ulster Park, was cited by Highland State Police Wednesday night for driving a motor vehicle while intoxicated following an accident on Route 9W.

Eastment submitted to a blood test at Kingston Hospital before arraignment. Esopus Town Justice O. Beaver adjourned hearing for three weeks and committed Eastment until $100 bail is posted, authorities reported.

A report of Trooper Jerry Henne noted that the Eastment car was involved in a mishap with a vehicle operated by Lennon D. Brown of Kingston.

Bold Burglary at Caldor's Under an Intensive Probe

SCENE OF CRIME—Burglars hacked this hole through the cinder block wall at the back of Caldor's store and through the opening removed merchandise valued at more than $4,200. Inside is shown a temporary cover placed to protect the interior of the store. Freeman reporter Walter S. Clark examines the damage done by the thieves. (Freeman photo by Haines)

By WALTER S. CLARK

TOWN OF ULSTER

Authorities throughout the area today pursued an intensive investigation of a bold burglary at the Caldor of Kingston, Inc., department store on Route 9W in this township that netted loot estimated at $4,279.05.

State Police BCI investigators from the Kingston Zone headquarters and men from the sheriff's office sought bits of evidence that might lead to the apprehension of the thieves who chipped a large hole in the cinderblock wall at the back of the store.

The break-in apparently occurred late Tuesday night or before dawn on Wednesday.

The haul was considered by investigators as one of the largest taken in a burglary in Ulster County in many years. The loot consisted of major appliances including a number of television sets and other articles of high grade quality.

Washes Evidence Away

Apparently the burglars worked under cover of a downpour of rain in the isolated area at the rear of the one-story building that could not be seen from the main north-south highway. The rain evidently washed away evidence such as marks made by tires or the vehicle—or vehicles—used to cart away the loot.

The exact amount of the stolen merchandise as yet has not been determined, and a check on the inventory is still underway, authorities said.

Investigators disclosed that an incomplete inventory showed that the burglars made off with electric guitars, stereos, radios, televjsion sets—color and black and white—tape players, recorders and other articles of top qquality. The price range of the missing merchandise was estimated between $22.70 and $319, with most of the loot being worth upwards of $200 each.

The break-in was discovered by employees when they reported for work yesterday, and authorities were immediately notified.

Pieces of the cinder-blocks that were hacked away from the thick rear wall of the store, were found on the ground. The sizes of the fragments indicated that the burglars—probably using hand tools such as a pickaxe and sledge hammer—undoubtedly worked for a considerable length of time hacking through the wall to make the opening large enough to crawl through, and to pass out the loot.

Just Large Enough

Most of the merchandise taken had been removed from a storage area and the display floor at the rear of the store and not far away from the hole in the wall, which appeared just large enough to remove the television sets and other articles.

A Freeman reporter at the scene observed blurred marks made by a vehicle tire in mud, which might indicate the truck or trucks used to cart away the stolen property had entered a weeded area back of the store from the open lot just north of the loading platform.

One official indicated that the thieves may have concealed the getaway vehicle near underbrush and weeds prior to the time they started the work of knocking the hole through the wall. Another possibility was that the burglars may have carried the loot across the nearby railroad tracks to a truck or station wagon.

Management at the store had no comment when asked questions by a reporter about the break-in.

Teletype alarms have been sent out to all police agencies listing descriptions and value of each article stolen.

Conducting the investigation are Sr. BCI Investigator Edward Shannon, Investigators W. E. Wiedemann, Richard Ryan, John Salters and Investigator Harold T. Bowers and deputies and uniformed troopers.

Confusion in New Paltz

Loitering Against What Law?

By BRUCE KAUFMAN

NEW PALTZ

Loitering is still against the law in the Village of New Paltz, but specifically which law, is somewhat uncertain at this time.

This confusion stems from the perplexing fact that there are no less than three laws dealing with the misdemeanor of loitering, currently being referred to by officials here, and nobody seems to be precisely sure which one is the law of the village.

It all started when a group of young people called for the revocation of the village's existing loitering ordinance, which they felt to be "unconstitutional" and "arbitrary."

The youthful petitioners, mostly students from nearby State University College, initially brought their complaint to the June meeting of New Paltz Village Board, following the arrest of four of their fellows on the loitering charge by village police.

Agreement Worked Out

Following the June meeting, an agreement was worked out between the village attorney, William Gruner, and Neil Fabricant, an attorney affiliated with the college, that the ordinance was in fact "vague" and that a more clearly spelled out law would be desirable.

Coincidentally, during the weeks that followed, no arrests were made on the basis of the existing ordinance and the controversy itself somewhat subsided.

Then, a few days prior to the July meeting of the village board, last Monday night, three arrests for loitering were made in New Paltz and as a result the young people, who feel that the ordinance is directed against them, confronted the board once again.

At the Monday night meeting, the board essentially accepted the agreement between the attorneys and scheduled a public hearing on August 11, to consider replacement of the unpopular ordinance with the one recommended by the attorneys.

However, the board did not, at that time, specify what ordinance would be in effect during the 10 days prior to the public hearing and subsequent testimony by village officials has only made the matter more confusing.

Village attorney Gruner, an architect of the proposed ordinance, told The Freeman, Wednesday night, that village police were "not going to make any arrests under the old ordinance," however, he went on to say that they will "continue to enforce the law."

Individual board members would make no comment on the matter, but similarly indicated that "the laws will be enforced."

The students themselves contacted at a popular "loitering" hangout in front of Pat and George's Bar and Grill on Main Street, indicated that they are generally confused.

"While we are willing to discuss the political and legal aspects of the matter," one student told The Freeman, "when the man (the police) drive by we don't ask questions but just walk away."

However, to obscure the matter even further the Village of New Paltz Police are overlooking both village ordinances and using the New York State Penal Code as a guideline.

New Paltz Chief of Police Nicholas Pape, said the law as spelled out in the penal code is quite similar to the proposed village ordinance.

Pape went on to say that if the "loitering continues arrests will be made," pointing out that the village police "do not take orders from the village board or the town attorney, but are just here to uphold the law."

So at the moment there are three laws currently being referred to in New Paltz concerning loitering. There is the old law, still on the books, but supposedly not in effect, the new law, seemingly acceptable to all but not yet law, and the penal code law, which is being used by police.

Meanwhile potential loiterers in New Paltz are no doubt confused and it would probably be in their best interest to "play it cool" until the August 11 hearing.

Ribbon Cutting Held

New Pool in Red Hook Begins Operations

RED HOOK

Today is opening day for the much publicized and beautiful Red Hook recreation pool.

Ribbon cutting ceremonies took place at 10 this morning at poolside, with Ralph M. Douglas presiding as president of the Recreation Park, Inc.

Fred Schultz, publicity director for the project, notes that about 300 families have bought three year subscriptions to the pool, encompassing about "1,600 people in the Red Hook School District." A three year subscription costs $150 per family. Guests may also be brought in.

The schedule for the balance of the summer, until some time in September, will allow for the general public within the school district to attend and make use of the pool between 10 a.m. and 12:30 p.m. daily. Subscribers and their guests may use the pool from 1 to 8:30 p.m.

Suzanne Tanny, a New Paltz instructor, is in charge of the staff of eight employes, including lifeguards. "All employes will double as lifeguards," said Schultz, "and all have lifesaving certificates."

The Dutchess County Board of Health inspected the pool facilities Tuesday and gave the green light for operations that same day at 3 p.m., precipitating the grand opening today.

The Z-shaped olympic sized pool has a three-meter and a one-meter board side by side. When filled, the depth varies from 18 inches to 13 feet. Six racing lanes of 25 yards, seven ladders, four underwater lights for safety purposes, and a 10 foot concrete decking, complement the pool. A one-acre area is enclosed by mesh fencing, and will be seeded with grass. The pool holds 220,000 gallons of water.

Free swimming classes will be offered during morning hours by Red Cross workers from Poughkeepsie, with schedules to be announced later.

"And it is possible that we will have some organized racing competition this summer, also," announced Schultz.

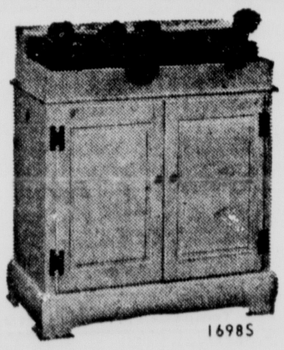

Overwork Cited

KINGSTON

Citing an overworked staff as the major reason for delayed telephone repair service in the mid-Hudson area, Robert E. Smith, president of the Communications Workers of America defended his organization in the wake of public complaints against the New York Telephone Company.

Smith stated in a new release that, because of the large influx of tourists and vacationers to the local area during the summer months, the staff of the Mid-Hudson division has not had the time to comply to all of the requests for telephone repair and installations service.

Coupled with the fact that a number of local employes have been transferred to the New York City office, Smith contended that an "ever increasing work load" has been placed "on those of us who remain behind." He added that the telephone company "cannot be responsible for circumstances beyond our control."

A Fair Feature

NEW PALTZ — An exciting horse pull contest will be one of the many feature attractions at the 1969 Ulster County Fair scheduled for August 15, 16, and 17, on the Ulster County Farm grounds, here.

Ten teams of horses from all over the state will be involved in the event, which was one of the most exciting attractions at the 1968 fair, according to Mrs. Charles VanAlst, secretary of the fair.

In the competition, the horse teams will haul a device called a dynamomentor, which can be set at various weights for a distance of 27½ feet. The winning team will be chosen by a panel of judges.

Included among the competing teams will be the world champion horse pull team from Sundown.

This year's fair is expected to be bigger and better than any previous event with dozens of attractions from cattle shows to art exhibits.

There will also be square dancing on Saturday night and a bigger than ever horse show on both Saturday and Sunday.

There will be no admission to the fair, however, there will be a parking fee.

There will also be a donation requested in order to see the horse pull. All of the proceeds will be applied to cover the construction of the pole barn recently constructed on the fairgrounds.

Youth Jailed In Sullivan in Dad Shooting

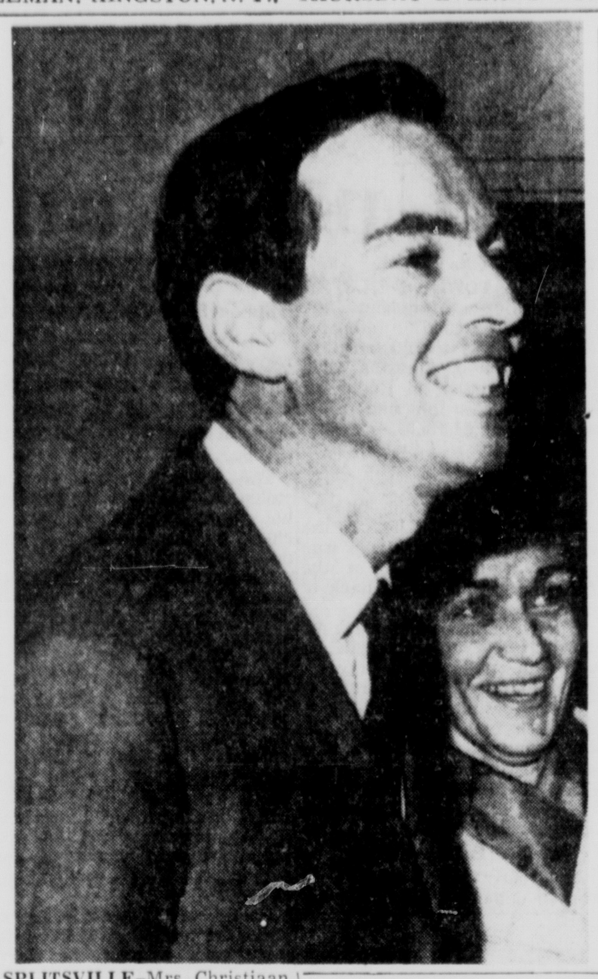

MONTICELLO, N. Y. (AP) — A 17-year-old youth is being held in Sullivan County Jail on charges of attempted murder in the shooting of his father earlier this week.

Police said Peter Young was jailed in lieu of $1,000 bail to await a second court appearance Monday.

State Police said Young, of Sheldon, Suffolk County, shot his father at the home of a relative in the Sullivan County hamlet of Westbrookville.

Troopers said the father, Robert, 38, was in guarded condition in a Port Jervis hospital suffering from four wounds inflicted by a .22-caliber rifle.

They said the shooting took place when the father arrived to take Robert and three other brothers back to the family home in Selden.

SPLITSVILLE—Mrs. Christiaan Barnard divorced the famed heart transplant surgeon Wednesday on grounds of desertion. The uncontested divorce was granted on the basis of her testimony that Barnard had not returned to her by July 20 as ordered by the court when she filed her petition for divorce last May. The couple is seen during a visit to San Francisco in 1968. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Hearing Set

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Federal Trade Commission has accused the makers of light bulbs of dealing in half truths in advertising their life and brightness. The FTC proposed regulations requiring those who market bulbs to disclose clearly the light output of the bulb and the life expectancy in terms of hours. A public hearing was set for Sept. 30.

School Budget

Rhinebeck Voting

RHINEBECK — An increased number of voters will be eligible to vote on the Rhinebeck Central School's second proposed budget in today's referendum.

Recent rulings allow any "citizen of the U.S., 21 years or more of age, resident of district for 30 days preceding the voting" to cast a ballot. The past election required that the persons "own, or spouse own, real property or lease or hire real property, parent of child attending school or has a child permanently residing with him and attending school." The property qualification has since been declared unconstitutional.

Polls will be open from 2 to 9 p.m. today for voting on the $1,792,441.75 budget. The first attempt on a $1,787,417.75 budget was defeated by a vote of 336 against and 297 for, a difference of 39 votes, on June 11.

"There is no registration necessary, and never has been one, in the Rhinebeck school district," said board clerk Walter Snyder. He stated that his estimate of eligible voters in the district "would range from 2,100 to 2,300 people, but the most we have ever had voting was about 1,500." Only 622 votes were cast on the first budget proposal this year.

District Principal Ralph Steeves emphasized this week that "two years ago we had a contingency budget until Nov. 14. It took four proposals before one made it. Since then we have been the most cautious budget makers in Dutchess County. There is no fat on this budget."

Approve Teachers

RED HOOK — Appointments of four new teachers were approved by the Red Hook Board of Education this week.

They are: Arthur Groves, on probation in an administrative capacity. He has been accepted as an assistant elementary principal at Mill Road School, under David Machell. Groves has had experience at Spring Valley Central School.

Terry Goldstone will teach first grade. She is a graduate of New Paltz State.

John Palmer will teach general science in junior high. He is a Hamilton College graduate.

Denise Gardner, a graduate of Trinity College, will teach secondary English.

Mrs. Amanda Orthmann's resignation was accepted.

Red Carpet Week Aug. 3-9

Paltz Stone House Day the Start of Something Big

By JEAN F. DOLAN
NEW PALTZ

Nature, art, folk entertainment and a little falconry on the side — This is just a part of the gala Red Carpet Week activities slated Aug. 3 through 9 in and around New Paltz.

The kick off event will take place Saturday, Aug. 2, with the 19th annual Stone House Day on "the oldest street in America." Houses along Huguenot Street will be staffed by costumed hostesses from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. In addition to the house tours there will be a bazaar, cottage crafts demonstrations, displays and luncheon at the New Paltz Reformed Church. Refreshments will be available at outdoor booths also.

Red Carpet Week is sponsored by the New Paltz Chamber of Commerce and includes a full range of entertainment to suit every age and taste. Full week's activities will be as follows:

Week's Activities

• Aug. 3 — Conducted tour of the State University College at New Paltz starting 11 a.m. from the main lobby of the Faculty Tower and including visits to new buildings on campus.

Fun Day at Moriello Park 1 p.m. Children's events and entertainment will be followed by free public swimming.

The award-winning film on contemporary concerns, A Time for Burning will be presented 7:30 p.m. at the lecture center, main concourse, SUNY, sponsored by the League of Women Voters. The program will include live participation. Admission is free.

• Aug. 4—Little Wings Bird Sanctury Tour. Short guided walks of the sanctuary at the Jenkintown crossroad will be conducted from 10 a.m. to 12 noon.

Ceramics students at work. Visitors may observe students in the classes of Kenneth M. Green, professor of ceramics at SUNY from 1 to 4 p.m. Classes are in the fine arts building and admission is free.

Lands and forest heritage. Talks and displays will be featured at the New York State Conservation Department building, South Putt Corners Road, from 2 to 4 p.m.

DR. MENG WITH FALCON

Piano recital by Harry Jensen of the SUNY music faculty will be represented at the McKenna Theater on campus 8:30 p.m.

• Aug.5—The Village Blacksmith. W. and G. Palkowics, skilled blacksmiths, demonstrate their old and vanishing art at their forge on Route 32, North. Admission from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. is free.

The Artist's Studio. Informal studio and patio demonstrations by Professor Greer will be conducted at his home studio from 2 to 4 p.m. Registration and directions may be obtained at the New Paltz Chamber of Commerce information booth.

Cordial Cuisine. Dominick's Restaurant, 30 North Chestnut Street, offers spaghetti dinner special for a nominal cost.

Hawks and Falconry

Hawks and the Ancient Art of Falconry will be demonstrated by Heinz Meng of the SUNY science faculty at 8 p.m. The program will include movies and talk using live birds. Program will be presented at the college lecture hall. Admission is free.

• Aug. 6—Lake Minnewaska Courtesy Day starting 9 a. m. Usual admission will be waived and dining rooms, shops, recreational facilities will be available at reasonable fees.

Lake Mohonk Centennial celebration tours of the grounds 1 to 4 p. m. and evening meal in the dining room plus chamber music concert 8:30 p. m. by the Hudson Valley Philharmonic Orchestra. Reservations should be made for evening meal.

Pool Party

Pool party. The New Paltz Recreation committee is in charge of the teen swim party 8 to 11 p. m. at Moriello Park.

• Aug. 7 — College tour 1:30 p. m. will be repeat of the Sunday event.

Artistry in Silver. New York City instructor and silversmith William Seitz will conduct demonstrations at his home studio from 2 to 4 p. m. Directions are available at the information booth.

Country Card Party. Sisterhood of Ahavath Achim will hold games event 7 to 10 p. m. at the VFW Hall. Tickets will be available at the information booth and at the door..

• Aug. 8 — Nature Walk. A md-Hudson Catskills Museum nature walk will start from the Mohonk gatehouse 9 a.m. The hour-long tour will be led by John Burroughs Natural History Society President and Mrs. J. Alfred Adams. Families will be particularly interested in the study of mid-summer plant and bird life.

Church luncheon. A cold roast beef luncheon will be served by the WSCS of the New Paltz United Methodist Church 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m.

Special

Ceramics. Students of Professor Green will again present classroom demonstrations 1 to 4 p.m. at the college.

Lake Mohonk Friday Concert. Guest artist, Robert Rudie, violnist will present the program. Activities will begin at 5 p.m. and will include tour of the gardens, evening meal and concert. Reservations are required.

Surprise for the Children. Winding up the gala week will be a special show 2:30 p.m. at Academy Theater, 16 North Chestnut Street.

Art Exhibit

In conjunction with the Red Carpet festivities there will be a New Paltz Art Associaton exhibit and show Saturday through Saturday in the barn at the rear of the gift shop, 107 Main Street from 1 to 4:30 p.m. daily.

Violin making will be demonstrated by Dr. Louis Drand Aug. 3 through 9 from 9 to 4:30 p.m. at the McKenna Theater lobby. Special evening performances will be given 6 to 8:30 p.m. Sunday through Wednesday only.

A student art show will be on display on the college art gallery during the same hours.

Free baby sitting service for children one to eight years of age will be available daily 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. at the New Paltz United Methodist Church education building. There will be a complete program of supervised play.

Twenty and Ten Years Ago

Aug. 1, 1949 — An eight-year-old victim of infantile paralysis, who resided in Brooklyn and was staying at a bungalow lodging place in the Town of Wawarsing, died yesterday afternoon.

Lightning struck a large tree on the Winert property about 2/ miles northwest of Smith's Garage at Stony Hollow about 11:45 p.m. Saturday, and started a stubborn fire which required about three hours to extinguish.

Aug. 1, 1959 — Kingston water was reported in good supply today, but other communities in the Hudson Valley placed bans on unnecessary use of water.

The appointment of Dr. James H. Kelly as an associate director of Kingston Laboratory was announced today.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, JULY 31, 1969

It's Up to Ted Himself

Sen. Edward Kennedy has asked the people of Massachusetts whether he should continue in public office. Once again he is making a wrong turn, only this time it is not on a lonely dirt road. Now it is the road to his future, and only he can determine which way he must go. The people cannot do it for him. He must ask his conscience whether, having failed utterly to do what had to be done the night of July 18-19, he can be trusted to make decisions affecting the lives of many people.

Since there is no question that he has aspirations to become President, he must ask himself if—assuming his will one day be the finger that could press the button unleashing war—he is capable of making the right decision, to press or not to press. He must ask his conscience whether, at some future time—if he, and he alone, controls the H-bomb, or something even more fearful that has been spawned from it—he will be surer of what must be done than the night of July 18-19.

On that fateful night, by his own admission, his actions were "indefensible." His evasiveness and his unwillingness since then, even in his television appearance, to clear up all aspects of the tragedy weigh heavily against him. He has implicated two friends as having knowledge of the young woman's death shortly after it happened, yet it has not cleared up why they didn't go to the police. If, as he says, he was in a state of "shock," there is no reason to believe they were. How could these three enter into a conspiracy of silence during that long night while uncertain of the fate of Mary Jo Kopechne?

He avoided a trial, by pleading guilty, thus further showing his unwillingness to let all the facts come out. If he cannot be completely frank about all the aspects of this case, can he be trusted to not be evasive with the public he would serve?

Surely, the Senator will not be fooled by the many telegrams of approval. He knows that many more people did not send telegrams than did, many more did not call their newspapers. Their silence could mean disapproval. When all the show of emotionalism has died down, the question still remains: Can Senator Kennedy look into his own conscience and still feel he has dealt fairly with his followers?

It has taken a tragic accident to show that Mr. Kennedy's judgment is not of the best. Allowing for the hours on the night of July 18-19 when he says he was dazed, there have been many developments since that time, when his mind was clear, that he has let a public down that he wants to serve. Better that he and those he appeals to face up to the fact that he has been tried and found wanting.

Worldwide Weather Test

Weather forecasters can make accurate forecasts only two days ahead. They can make useful but not very good forecasts for four or five days ahead. They are on the verge of advances in theory and observation that could enable them to forecast accurately four or five days or even longer.

Dr. Jule G. Charney, chairman of a National Academy of Sciences committee on global atmospheric research, is authority for these statements. His committee proposed a major test in 1973 of a global weather observation system designed to revolutionize weather forecasting. It would be part of an international Global Atmospheric Research Program under United Nations and international scientific auspices.

Dr. Charney, who is professor of meteorology at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, noted the test would require global observation instead of the 20 per cent which weather watchers now monitor; development of computers with speeds at least 100 times faster than the most advanced computers today; field tests and accompanying modeling experiments to improve the physical and mathematical basis of long-range prediction.

A Surprise $3.1 Billion Surplus Leaves Congress in a Quandary

WASHINGTON — It isn't often that the estimates for the receipts and expenditures of an annual budget of the government are miscalculated on the better side. Usually the deficits are higher than originally anticipated. If a surplus is predicted, it often doesn't turn out to be as large as expected. But now, as the budget figures for fiscal year 1969, which ended on June 30, are available, they reveal a suprlus of 3.1 billion dollars.

President Johnson's estimates in January 1969 were for a 2.4-billion-dollar surplus, and Nixon treasury officials in May forecast a surplus of 900 million dollars. The final result — namely, a surplus of 3.1 billion dollars — disclosed that the budget was not only balanced for the first time since the Eisenhower administration did it in 1960, but the surplus was bigger than either the Johnson or Nixon administration officials had calculated for fiscal year 1969.

The main reason for this is that receipts, particularly from individual income taxes, were 1.3 billion dollars above what was thought possible in May 1969.

Expenditures, on the other hand, were 800 million dollars below the estimates in May. These reductions were in a number of agencies of the government including 130 million dollars less spent for foreign economic aid, 480 million curtailed in the Department of Housing and Urban Development, 242 million in the Department of Transportation, and 273 million by the commodity credit corporation. Spending, however, exceeded estimates in some agencies.

The Budget Bureau has a hard time anticipating the exact trend of revenue and expenditures, and it is easily possible for an error of a billion dollars in estimates to be made. What is most surprising is that the income-tax collections were so large.

The effects are being felt in Congress, where some members view the new figures as meaning that it is not necessary to extend the income-tax surcharge. Extension of the surtax is expected to bring in around 7.6 billion dollars in fiscal year 1970. But without it, the surplus of 6.3 billion dollars estimated by the Nixon administration for the fiscal year which started on July 1 would vanish, and there would be instead a deficit of 1.3 billion.

Congress, therefore, is confronted with a dilemma. If it doesn't extend the tax surcharge and the budget is unbalanced, this surely will affect the whole economic situation. Federal policies at the moment are designed to curb inflation and restrain government spending.

The impression has been spread that, if the tax surcharge isn't extended, individual incomes would be larger because taxes would be lower. But the proponents of the tax surcharge argue that the U.S. Treasury will face a substantial loss in revenue and a budget deficit unless the tax surcharge is retained.

The question is whether Congress is really ready to take a chance, wipe out the surplus and substitute for it a big deficit. Already the figures about business activity indicate that there has been a diminution in profits in many industries, and this, of course, will cut down government receipts from taxes.

If the economic situation is stable by November 1970, issues other than those on the economic side will take precedence in the congressional elections. But at present there is considerable worry over what the outcome of the current controversy on taxes will be. Chairman Wilbur Mills of the House Ways and Means Committee has proposed a formula whereby a tax-reform bill could be put through the House and sent to the Senate by August 7, and be enacted into law before the congressional recess of August 13. This involves retaining the tax surcharge but making certain reductions in taxes for particular classes.

The significant fact is that the federal government has a surplus for fiscal year 1969. Public confidence can be sustained when fiscal stability is assured. So the next few weeks will determine whether the Democratic Party in Congress is going to take the responsibility for measures that will encourage rather than discourage inflation.

'Rush' Is a Word Foreign To the Meticulous Nixon

By RAY CROMLEY
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Adding to the confusion over President Nixon's leadership, purpose and direction is one basic trait affecting all his activities.

The President is a slow, methodical planner. He wants everything well-prepared, documented and briefed. He wants each point argued through, sometimes ad nauseam. He usually is unwilling to impose his own will and his own decision until all sides have been heard, and sometimes heard again. He wants all ends neatly tied up. This makes him seem like an overcautious plodder. It certainly gives an appearance at times of widespread confusion.

This careful, detailed approach is probably one reason for the charge that Nixon cannot make up his mind on a number of key domestic, social and economic problems.

It has led to the resignation of at least one key Negro member of his administration, the man responsible for Nixon's black capitalism program in the Small Business Administration, who quit in frustration.

Nixon was accused of being reactionary when his aides considered virtually wiping out the Office of Economic Opportunity as it was constituted. It turned out only that Nixon men had received so many reports of failure in the program that they believed a thorough revamping was necessary.

The energetic and imaginative young man Nixon finally put in charge of the program is certainly not the type a President would put at the helm of an organization he was attempting to destroy.

The difficulty seems to be that in the Kennedy and Johnson years so many programs were started and funded so rapidly that, however laudable their objectives, they were in an advanced state of disorganization.

This reporter has heard the harshest of criticism first-hand from Negro and other disadvantaged groups these programs were intended to aid.

The plain fact is that if some of these programs were allowed to go on as in the past money scandals of the greatest magnitude would have exploded in Nixon's ears within the next two years.

The situation was made worse because President Johnson, obviously for political reasons, sharply expanded the funds for some of these projects in the budgets he prepared for Nixon to live under in his first one-and-a-half years of office.

It would have been impossible to have carried out these tremendous expansions (sometimes involving a doubling or more of funds within a 12-month period) within Nixon's first 18 months without leading to ludicrous amounts of waste, graft and other assorted forms of corruption.

It takes time to sort things out in a situation like this. It is easier by far to start new programs than to take existing programs and turn them around. You have a vast bureaucracy already built up. In every change, you make enemies of those who have tied themselves emotionally to one or another phase of a program.

In those areas where failure has been due to ignorance, how do you make shifts you are certain won't lead to even worse results, unless there's some detailed research and preparation?

The secret is to go slow when you don't know what you are doing and where no one else does either. And where every man has his own theory on how poverty, crime, riots and despair should be handled. But how do you go slow in programs that are already rolling, where events have carried things so far that going slow could mean intense political dissension and perhaps new and more violent rioting?

In situations like this, careful thinking and painstaking research and analysis can sometimes be mistaken for indecision and lack of leadership. And, as mentioned at the beginning of this Column, Nixon throughout his life has been a slow, meticulous man who will not be rushed.

Despite Lavish U.S. Efforts Pakistan Leans to China

WASHINGTON — Pakistan, which President Nixon visits today, illustrates what happens when you bet your chips on one man or one group of men.

The same thing happened in Pakistan that happened in Peru, where the United States bet on the Peruvian military only to have them turn against us. The same thing could also happen to the Greek military junta.

Early in the Eisenhower administration, John Foster Dulles decided that President Mohammed Ayub Khan of Pakistan was the man to rely on. The son of an old Indian bugler, Ayub had trained at Sandhurst, the British West Point, and was thoroughly Anglicized. Dulles decided that Ayub, with his charm and his pro-Anglo-American policy, would be much more reliable than the larger, unwieldly democracy of India.

Accordingly, the United States concentrated on making a friend of Ayub. We invited him several times to visit the USA. We gave him some $5 billion worth of arms. Jackie Kennedy staged a special cruise down the Potomac, with a candlelight dinner on the lawn of Mount Vernon — the first time this had ever been done — in honor of the head man of Pakistan.

And Jackie paid a return visit to Pakistan during which Ayub gave her a black stallion, and the Pakistan government gave her an emerald, diamond and ruby bracelet.

In return, we expected Pakistan to be a bulwark south of the Himalaya Mountains against Russian — and particularly Chinese — penetration of Middle Asia.

Instead, Pakistan and India got into the inevitable hassle, and when the United States objected to Pakistan's using American-supplied tanks against India, all the goodwill we had generated with candlelight suppers and billions of dollars of arms went up in smoke.

Shortly thereafter, China began wooing Pakistan; and Pakistan was quite willing to be wooed. Eventually, President Ayub was kicked out by a military junta which was far more dictatorial than his administration. There have been public hangings every day, and Pakistan is in the grip of pro-Chinese propaganda. She has given China air bases with which China has been able to penetrate East Africa; and China is now building two roads to Pakistan, one from Sinkiang province through Ledock, the other from Tibet via Kashmir.

Just before Nixon's visit, China went all out to make sure that Pakistan would not desert the Chinese cause. A gala reception for the Pakistan "friendship delegation" was held in Peking, at which time Premier Chou En-lai denounced all plans for selective security in Asia, including those by Russia as well as the United States.

"The so-called system of collective security in Asia is a new step taken by social imperialism," Chou said, "in its intensified efforts to rig up a new anti-Chinese military alliance."

Officially, Pakistan is a member of SEATO and is pledged to help the United States protect South Vietnam. We get about as much help from Pakistan along this line as we get from Albania.

These are some of the situations Nixon will try to improve during his official visit.

Anti-Cigarettes

Cigarettes have become the outcasts of American industry. Many movie and TV stars, plus several TV and radio stations, will no longer accept cigarette sponsorship or do cigarette advertising. Salesmen have been turning down well-paid cigarette sales jobs.

Even the companies themselves are becoming conglomerates and dropping that dirty word "tobacco" from their title. The American Tobacco Company has been renamed "American Brands."

Where once the cigarette was an essential to a langorous interlude, you now find film star Tony Curtis reporting that when he stopped smoking his sex life improved.

When asked to elaborate, he explained: "I prefer to think of it in hygenic terms. It just makes you feel good. Your breath is sweeter, your tongue's not coated, you even smell better."

Curtis, whose father had a lung removed because of cancer, is chairman of a new American Cancer Society drive — "I.Q." — or "I Quit."

Doris Day and Lawrence Welk have stipulated in their TV contracts that there shall be no cigarette sponsors.

Charlton Heston, Ben Hur star, has offered to do a half-hour TV show free for the American Cancer Society. Actor Joseph Sirola ("Golden Rainbow") who has earned up to $100,000 in cigarette commercials, has sworn off when his present contract expires.

NBC staff announcer Vic Robey has advertised in Variety that he is not available for cigarette commercials because the "evidence indicates that smoking could lead to cancer, heart attacks, strokes, emphysema and fires."

"How can I take money to tell someone else's daughter to smoke a particular brand and then ask my 16 year-old girl not to smoke at all?" he asks.

One employment agency reports that "salesmen are leaving tobacco because they find it isn't worth the effort needed to push a product that is thought of as a slow-acting poison."

Meanwhile, the broadcasting industry individually is taking action, with cigarette advertising banned on the Post-Newsweek stations in Washington, D.C., and Jacksonville, Fla.; on the Mormon Church stations with outlets in Salt Lake City, Seattle, California and New York; and on the Westinghouse Group W stations in New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Baltimore, Fort Wayne, Chicago, San Francisco and Los Angles.

Meanwhile, Sen. Frank Moss of Utah, a Mormon non-smoker, is holding cigarette advertising hearings under Chairman Warren Magnuson, D-Wash., who intiated the Senate drive against cigarettes four years ago.

Lindsay Run Puts Heat On Political Chairmen

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The fabled luck of the Irish is running bad this summer for John Joseph Burns and Charles Thomas Lanigan.

A likelier pair born to the political manner would be hard to find than Burns and Lanigan, husky six-footers with a friendly way about them and a merry humor bubbling just beneath the surface.

But Burns, the Democratic state chairman, and Lanigan, his Republican opposite number, have little to laugh about these days as they contemplate the disunity wracking their political parties.

Not only the problem but the cause is a common one — the New York City mayoral election. And, like most ailments, it figures to get worse before it gets better.

Following the course expected of party chairmen, Burns and Lanigan endorsed the winners of the mayoral primary elections — Burns backing Democrat Mario Procaccino and Lanigan lining up with Republican John J. Marchi.

In the six weeks since the primary, however, Burns has had to sit back and watch a parade of Democratic prominents renounce Procaccino and declare their support for the Republican whom Marchi defeated, Mayor John V. Lindsay.

At the same time, Lanigan has seen the GOP hierarchy split right down the middle, half standing by Marchi and the rest spurning the party line to go with Lindsay.

As a result, the city election has divided both parties into alienated wings. The mutual concern of both Burns and Lanigan is that division will not leave permanent scars.

Despite the heat of the moment, both chairmen are looking beyond this fall's showdown in the city to what they regarded as the much more critical elections of 1970. Since their responsibilities are statewide in scope, they naturally are more concerned about next year, when the governorship, a U.S. Senate seat and all seats in Congress and the legislature will be at stake.

They are anxious, therefore, that their parties enter the new election year in a maximum state of combat readiness. Yet, their efforts to forge the most effective weapon, unity, are being frustrated by the "off year" struggle in the city.

For Burns and the Democratic party, the experience is certainly not new. Intra-Democratic warfare has been a constant headache since Burns took the committee helm four years ago.

Burns' only hope in the past has been that somehow the party would pull itself together to face the common Republican foe in the general election. This hope more often than not has proved illusory.

For Lanigan and the New York GOP, the experience is entirely new. Under the decade-long leadership of Gov. Nelson Rockefeller, and under Thomas E. Dewey's rule before him, there was little internal disruption. The impression was that it simply was not allowed.

Now, only eight weeks on the job, Lanigan faces a problem of unfamiliar quality and unknown dimension. Is it merely an isolated incident or the beginning of an unhappy new era?

That's why those Irish eyes aren't smiling like they used to.

BERRY'S WORLD

"I know it's a great idea, but I wonder if it isn't a little too obvious."

Saugerties Landfill

Another Proposal

By ALBERT J. CAWEIN

SAUGERTIES — The Town of Saugerties is studying a proposal offered by a Latham firm which would provide a free landfill for the town for 10 years and start the development of an industrial park.

However, under the plan, the landfill facility would accommodate the solid wastes and refuse of other communities not named in the proposal.

Saugerties Supervisor A. Michael Schovel said a representative of the firm will attend a special Town Board meeting tonight at 8 p.m. in the town hall to outline the proposal and answer questions of the town officials.

Thomas J. Birmingham of 356 Troy-Schenectady Road in a letter to Supervisor Schovel advised that his firm is in the process of purchasing a tract of land in Saugerties in excess of 100 acres for an industrial park site.

Birmingham said the land is undeveloped and requires a large amount of fill. He noted that the site is suitable as to location to paved roads and the railroad.

The proposal as outlined would permit the town and possibly the village to dump refuse at the landfill site at no cost to the municipalities. However, there would be a charge to the conveyors or truckmen delivering the refuse. The landfill site, not identified by Birmingham, would also be used for solid waste coming from outside the community in two-ton four-feet compressed cubes. The compaction of garbage and solid wastes into cubes has been practiced by Japan for quite some time.

Birmingham, in his advisory to Schovel notes that the most economical filling and development of the proposed site would be through the sanitary landfill method which he claims would be well engineered and sanitary.

County officials when questioned about the idea have expressed strong feelings about any part of Ulster County absorbing garbage and refuse from some other part of the state.

The feeling among Ulster County officials is that local communities already have a refuse problem and land is running short for this purpose and disposing of out-of-town garbage here would use up the available space more rapidly.

Earlier this year a plan was revealed involving the State Pure Waters Authority in which Westchester County refuse was to be buried in landfills in Ulster County. The program on a broad scale would also have included Dutchess and possibly Columbia County.

Special

The Westchester plan for dumping solid wastes in an area near New Paltz was uncovered by County Legislator Lester C. Elmendorf, R-2nd District. He called for immediate action of the County Legislature to preserve home rule and block any attempts to have county property condemned for outside landfill use.

Assemblyman H. Clark Bell and State Sen. Jay P. Rolison filed measures to curb the power of the Pure Waters Authority and both bills passed by wide margins in the Assembly and the Senate. However, Gov. Rockefeller vetoed the bill because it was "too broad in its restrictions."

The county is currently undergoing a solid wastes study being conducted by an engineering firm. The full report with solutions and recommendations to resolve the garbage disposal problem will be revealed at an Ulster County Planning Board conference in September.

There are reports that the recommendation to handle all of the county's solid wastes will be to set up two large county landfill sites near the two centers of Ulster County population.

The letter by Birmingham to Supervisor Schovel notes the many benefits the town would receive including the savings on operation of a town landfill site.

Birmingham said that within five years from the time of starting the filling at the site, the first industrial plant will be started on whatever portion of the area completed for development. He envisions a large industrial complex for the town.

The plan was outlined by Supervisor Schovel at last week's meeting of Saugerties Village Board and Mayor Cornelius Cox and members of the Village Board also have the matter under consideration.

The letter asks for written permission from the Town Board to permit the Birmingham firm to bring its waste and refuse from outside the township for burial in the landfill.

Supervisor Schovel said Birmingham told him that if the project is approved, Birmingham would form a corporation to operate the landfill.

Birmingham also forwarded a schedule of dumping information and prices or dumping fees to be charged truckers in the dumping business. The charge listed in the manual is 40 cents per cubic yard.

There is also a $5 per year charge per truck for a sticker to be affixed on each truck entering the landfill.

The minimum charge for dumping would be $2 per load with a load defined as up to five cubic yards. There are also extra yardage charges for bulky materials.

The Town of Saugerties is currently using a leased five-acre site at the Keefe property in the Pine Grove area and also has an option to purchase about 40 acres of the same property.

Spa Burglary: $70,000 in Jewels

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y. (AP)—Jewelry worth more than $70,000 was stolen from a hotel room Wednesday as the horse racing season got under way in this resort city, police said.

City police said the jewelry was taken from the $75-a-day second floor room of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph N. Seider of West Islip, L.I., at the Gideon Putnam Hotel.

FBI agents were working on the case.

The theft probably occurred between Monday afternoon and Tuesday night, police said. Officers said Seider discovered the jewelry missing when he opened a locked suitcase to get hospital credit cards.

His wife had been hospitalized Monday afternoon after suffering what was apparently a heart attack.

Police said the room showed no signs of forcible entry. The suitcase looked untouched by any intruder, they said.

The theft was the fourth in five years in which wealthy seasonal visitors have been victims of burglars. All the crimes are unsolved.

Police Chief Peter Pemberton said the missing jewelry included two sets of diamond earrings, one valued at $7,500, two cameo brooches set with sapphires and emeralds and worth a total of $16,000, a set of pearl and diamond earrings, a diamond cameo brooch and a diamond wedding ring valued at about $8,000.

Pemberton said some of the jewelry reported missing may be in the Seider home on Long Island.

The 140-room hotel, booked full at the time of the burglary, is owned by New York State and leased to a private firm. It is located on the state reservation at Saratoga springs, about 150 yards from the Saratoga Performing Arts Center.

The biggest of the jewel thefts was in 1967 when gems worth more than $700,000 were taken from the estate of Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney. The house was burglarized while the Whitneys attended a concert.

Five Policemen Wounded Near Panther Headquarters

CHICAGO (UPI)—Five policemen were wounded by gunfire from the headquarters of the Black Panther party early today.

Three men shouting "die pig" were arrested when police stormed the West Side building used as Panther headquarters, police said.

The condition of the police men was not immediately known. One officer had a shotgun pellet in the eye, police said.

"All I know is we stopped our car and they were shooting at police from the headquarters of the Black Panther office upstairs," said Patrolman Robert Flynn.

Flynn said he and another policeman had to blow the lock off the door of the building with shotguns. "We proceeded upstairs. There was no resistance. In the building we found many guns. We went through the apartment and out to the back porch.

"There were these three Panthers shouting, 'die pig.' They kept shouting it. They fought. They were subdued."

Flynn and other officers said they did not know why the Panthers opened fire. The three Panthers were taken to Cook County Hospital, police said. The wounded policemen were taken to Cook County, St. Mary's and Presbyterian-St. Luke's hospitals.

Man Fined $25 On Drug Charge In Dutchess

RHINEBECK

A 21-year-old Connecticut man was arrested at 10:30 p.m. Wednesday on a charge of possessing an implement capable of use to administer narcotics.

State Trooper Daniel Delmonte stopped a car driven by Colin Woodhouse of Milford on the Taconic Parkway in this township, and discovered a water pipe which the man allegedly admitted he used to smoke marijuana.

Woodhouse was arraigned before Town Justice George Harrington. He pleaded guilty and was fined $25, which was paid.

NOTICE

Double funeral held for two Port Ewen businessmen, Charles J. Perry and Benjamin Coniglio. A double funeral for Benjamin Coniglio grocery store proprietor and his son-in-law, Charles J. (Chappie) Perry, taxi service owner, who both died on Friday within a half hour of each other, was held on Monday from the Frank H. Simpson Funeral Home, 411 Albany Avenue. A solemn high Mass of requiem, concelebrated was offered for the repose of their souls at the Church of the Presentation at 10:30 a.m. by Bishop James McManus, Episcopal Vicar of Ulster and Sullivan Counties. He was assisted by the Rev. John Murphy, CSsR, the Rev. James Cannon, CSsR, the Very Rev. Joseph Kerins, CSsR, the Rev. Michael Curley and Brother Rudolph CSsR. Responses to the Mass were sung by the Redemptorist Fathers, assisted at the organ by Wayne Cusher. Hundreds of people from all walks of life including city, county, town officials, Sisters of St. Ursula, Benedictine Sisters, members of the Kingston Education System, Kingston Council Knights of Columbus, No. 275, St. John and St. Librata Society called at the funeral home to pay their respects and offered condolences to the bereaved family. The Town of Esopus American Legion Post No. 1298 called and held ritualistic services for their departed charter member, Charles Perry, who was a World War II veteran. The Port Ewen Fire Department called on Sunday and were led by the Rev. Cecil McFarland their chaplain, in a short memorial service. Union Hose Company No. 4 also called in a group. Among the clergy calling to pay their respects were Bishop James McManus, the Rev. Father Kerins and Father Curley, Msgr. Thomas Mullins and the Rev. Daniel J. Croston. On Sunday evening, Father Curley and Father Murphy together with the assembled family and friends, recited the Rosary. Burial was in St. Mary's Cemetery where Bishop McManus, assisted by Father Cannon and Father Murphy, pronounced the final blessing. Full military honors were accorded Charles Perry by the Town of Esopus American Legion Post 1298. The flag which draped the casket was presented to his wife by Post Commander Robert Graves. Union Hose Company No. 4 acted as honorary guard and escort at the funeral home and at the church. Active bearers were Roland Augustine, Andrew Auregema, Percy Palen, Eugene Smith, Richard Scherer and Paul Schwark for Mr. Perry; and Charles McCullough, John Crispino, Thomas Rizzi Jr., Anthony Crispino, Vincent Perry and Charles Crispino for Mr. Coniglio.

Signs to Impeach Hickel Being Painted by Indians

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI)—American Indians today began printing "Impeach Walter Hickel" signs. The president of the United Native Americans said he could not understand how "anybody that dumb" could be appointed secretary of the interior.

Hickel, whose department oversees Indian affairs, Wednesday told the annual Western Governors' Conference in Seattle the federal government is overprotective of Indians.

Hickel said Indians "have to cut the cord." In the past, said the former governor of Alaska, Indians have worked temporarily in the cities and, if they cannot cut the mustard, "they always have that crutch of being able to go back" to the reservation.

Hickel's remarks touched off an immediate flood of protests. Oswald George, a Coeur d'Alene Indian from Idaho, charged Hickel has "never met with Indians since being appointed."

"He has given us the runaround for six months," George complained.

In San Francisco, United Native Americans, a group dedicated to promoting Indian interests, called for Hickel's removal.

Lehman Brightman, president of UNA, said "Impeach Walter Hickel" signs were being printed and petitions would soon be circulated by the 8,000 organization members.

"I don't understand how anybody that dumb could be appointed," Brightman said.

Senate Racing

get it to the Senate for action by Oct. 31.

The measure called up by Mansfield as the vehicle for today's surtax fight was an administration-favored bill passed earlier by the House to accelerate payment of unemployment compensation taxes.

The surtax extension would be added as a rider.

The 10 per cent surtax expired June 30 but Congress previously extended withholding rates through July so the government would keep drawing the surtax out of paychecks.

Meanwhile, House tax reformers, working to give average taxpayers a better break, are considering either increasing the 10 per cent standard deduction or upping the $600 personal exemption.

Their decisions on tax relief will complete the broad reform bill scheduled for voting in the House next week.

Although more than half the House membership has expressed interest in raising the exemption, sentiment in the Ways and Means Committee apparently favors revising the standard deduction—which would cost the Treasury much less revenue.

A $100 exemption increase, it was estimated, would reduce tax yield nearly $3 billion. Raising the standard deduction from 10 to 14 per cent and the ceiling on it from $1,000 to $1,800 was estimated to cost $1.2 billion.

Meanwhile, the committee has softened somewhat its proposed crackdown on the use of farm losses to reduce investors' nonfarm taxable income and on the use of certain oil industry preferences by well-to-do individuals.

Decisions to slash the oil depletion allowance and related benefits, however, were reaffirmed.

Adultery Is Charged in Paltz Warrants

NEW PALTZ

Two persons were arrested Wednesday night by Highland state police on charges of adultery after warrants were issued by Town Justice Rexford Schneider.

Douglas Keith, 34, and Jane Sunshine, 36, both of this village, were arraigned before Justice Schneider after they were taken into custody by Troopers W. J. Carroll and R. J. Faugh of the Highland substation.

Hearing was adjourned and Keith and Mrs. Sunshine were committed to the county jail in lieu of $500 bail each, troopers reported. The complaint was made by the woman's husband, Amos, authorities said.

New Salem Man Pleads Guilty

NEW SALEM

Ralph Akins, 23, of New Salem, was charged with third degree burglary after state troopers investigated a complaint from the Hummell Boarding Home in this hamlet this morning.

The arrest was made by Troopers W. J. Carroll and R. J. Faugh of Highland. According to BCI Investigator W. E. Wiedemann, the man was arraigned before Ulster Town Justice Arthur A. Reilly, who accepted a plea of guilty to a reduced charge of criminal trespass on recommendation of Asst. Dist. Atty. Ellen Donovan.

Judge Reilly imposed a $25 fine and meted out a 6-month conditional discharge (probation).

The complaint charged that Akins was in the boarding house without permission.

Woman Arrested, Charged With Firing Rifle

ELLENVILLE

Accused of firing a rifle in the direction of two campers off Route 52, Sarah Farber, 50, of Zalkins Road, Greenfield Park, was arrested Wednesday by State Police Sgt. Gary Knight on a charge of reckless endangerment, second degree.

The woman appeared before Town Justice Frank Spada, who adjourned hearing until Aug. 6 at 7 p.m. The arrest was made on a warrant.

Troopers said one complainant was Solomon Schnitzler, who is staying at Camp Rav-Tov.

20 Perish In Rail Crash In Yugoslavia

BELGRADE (UPI)—A passenger train collided in southern Yugoslavia Wednesday night with two runaway tank cars, killing more than 20 persons, Belgrade radio reported today.

Eighteen were injured, some seriously.

The accident occurred when the uncontrolled tank cars rolled down a steep incline and slammed into the oncoming passenger train, the news agency Taniug said.

Mrs. Minervini Changes Mind on Woodstock Run

WOODSTOCK Mrs. Kiki Minervini, long-time Woodstck resident and local newspaperwoman who had previously tossed her bonnet into the ring as a candidate for Town Councilman, has decided not to make the run. Mrs. Minervini announced earlier this summer she would be a candidate for nomination at the Republican caucus this fall for the councilman seat being relinquished by Mervin Doremus, also a Republican.

In announcing her withdrawal, the Maple Lane resident said she was "declining the opportunity to run in the caucus after due consideration." She said her primary reason was based in an effort to "lend greater support to Mrs. Adele Longendyke in her bid for nomination and election to the post of Justice of the Peace."

It is Mrs. Minervini's contention that "however misguided discrimination against women in politics is, the fact remains that it exists." Having taken this into consideration, she said, she feels it "improbable" that two women would be nominated at her party's caucus, and even "more probable" both would be elected to the Town Board in November. Her withdrawal, she feels, could aid Mrs. Longendyke in securing the nomination to make the run against current justice Edgar Leaycraft, the Democratic incumbent.

Blame Laxity At Stony Brook For Drug Woes

NEW YORK (UPI) —A Long Island police official has blamed administrative laxity for the situation at State University at Stony Brook where, he said, more than a third of the 6,400 students are "sustained users of dangerous drugs."

Eugene R. Kelly, deputy Suffolk County police commissioner, told the Joint Legislative Committee on Crime Wednesday that Stony Brook officials offer police little more than "lip service and talk."

"If the administration took a firm position on the use of dangerous drugs on campus, and enforced that position by suspensions and expulsions, and truly cooperated with the police department," Kelly said, student peddlers of marijuana and LSD would be forced off the campus and police would "stand a better chance" of arresting them.

Kelly said student testimony indicated 2,500 Stony Brook students are regular drug users.

John De Francesco, former Stony Brook assistant dean, told the committee a questionaire filled out by last year's freshmen indicated 30 per cent had used drugs at least once and another 15 per cent intended to do so.

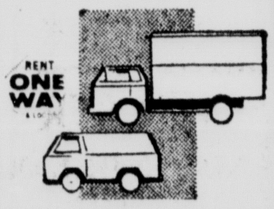

Stony Brook President John Toll said his administration is not unwilling to cooperate with police. He conceded, however, authorities at the college have refused to suspend students indicted on drug charges if it appeared they might change their habits.

NEW YORK (UPI)—Prices moved higher today at the opening in moderately active trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

The market's quick reaction late Wednesday to rumors—later denied—that the prime bank rate would be lowered was seen as an indication that the market may be ready for some kind of technical rally and was waiting for encouraging news. Analysts have been saying for days that a rally was overdue but was being held back by concern over inflation, tight money and the delay in extending the income tax surcharge.

Shortly after the opening the UPI marketwide indicator was up 0.77 per cent on 442 issues traded. Advances had a two to one edge over declines 239 to 112. The Dow Jones industrial average was up more than 2 points.

Oils were strong. Electronics moved higher. Chemicals and motors were firm.

Gulf Oil gained 1⅛ to 34½. Mobil was up ¼ to 52. Atlantic Richfield added 1⅞ to 101¾.

May Hold Discussions About Berlin Wall

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Diplomatic sources report that the United States, Great Britain and France are planning to sound out the Soviet Union on the possibility of holding talks that could lead to knocking down the Berlin Wall.

The discussions would cover the whole range of improved access and communications in the former German capital, and tearing down the wall would only be a secondary item to be discussed as a possibility at an undetermined future date.

But the wall, which sealed the border of the divided city with concrete and steel on Aug. 13, 1961, has remained an obstacle to the flow of men and ideas, in the view of the United States. If a fruitful dialogue can be arranged with the Communists, diplomatic sources said, then the three Western powers would work for elimination of the wall.

The Western allies of World War II have been consulting in Bonn, West Germany, ever since last March when President Nixon visited Berlin.

Officials in Washington said there was still no agreement on a number of issues to be discussed with the Russians, but they said it was hoped a unified position would be hammered out within the next few weeks.

The Western allies and the Soviet union have formal responsibility for the status of Berlin as a result of their capture and occupation of the city in World War II.

Hastings Plans Far East Tour During Recess

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. James Hastings, R-N.Y., was one of five House members who announced Wednesday they will spend the two weeks of the congressional recess next month touring the Far East.

The trip will not be made at government expense.

The Allegany, N.Y., Republican will visit Vietnam, Korea, Nationalist China and Japan.

The trip is being financed by "Free Pacific," a private New York City organization devoted to helping Nationalist China, and keeping communist influence out of the Pacific area.

The trip is one of several being planned by the organization for small groups of congressmen, it was reported.

Rule Homicide For Viet Vet, Was Wounded

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (UPI)—A verdict of homicide was handed down by the medical examiner's office Wednesday after a 54-year-old Army staff sergeant collapsed at his sister's home and died as the result of mortar wounds suffered in Vietnam.

S.Sgt. Harry E. Black of Fort Devens, Mass., was still on crutches when he died Tuesday night of a massive blood clot as a result of multiple shrapnel wounds received May 18 in an enemy attack on Xuan Loc in Vietnam.

A spokesman for the medical examiner said, "The taking of one man's life by another is homicide. It matters not where it happened."

The 14-year Army veteran was visiting his sister, Mrs. Archie Wakefield in suburban Webster when he collapsed.

Mrs. Wakefield lives at 1009 Five Mile Line Road.

Innocent Plea

Carl Schuster, 57, of 40 Madden Street, pleaded innocent today in City Court to a charge of harassment and received an adjournment until Saturday morning. He was booked late Wednesday night on complaint of Gertrude Schuster, who accused the defendant of causing a disturbance at home. Bail was fixed at $200.

OPEN LETTER TO OUR CUSTOMERS

GRAND UNION

Dear Customers:

Memorial Day - - - The Fourth of July - - - Labor Day. These are the traditional celebrations that make summer memorable for all of us.

Here in Grand Union/Empire Country, we began a series of summer sales four years ago designed to make your shopping memorable for low prices. Although called "President's Week", the celebrption is really a tribute to you - - - - our customers.

Saying "thank you" is as American and as traditional as fire works on the Fourth. Our way of expressing appreciation for your patronage is to make it possible for you to save more than usual during "President's Week". During our fifth annual observance of the event, you will find the year's best bargains on literally hundreds of food items in every Grand Union Supermarket and the food department of every Grand-Way in the Empire Division.

You are invited to join us for our 1969 celebration and the welcome mat will be out at each of our 130 stores in the division; genuine bargains will greet you in every department

There was never a better time to save than now; never a better place to save on food than at your nearby Grand Union or Grand-Way during "President's Week" - I hope to see you there.

Sincerely,

Charles G. Rodman

Charles G. Rodman
President

IBM Has Computer For Small Business

NEW YORK — A low cost computer system designed especially for small business and a dramatic departure in punched card format have been announced by International Business Machines Corporation.

Called IBM System/3, the new computer requires only 150 square feet of floor space, is easy to program and operate, and can be rented for as little as $945 a month. The system uses a new punched card that is about one-third the size of a traditional 80-column card, yet holds 40 per cent more information.

SLIDING DRAWER HOUSES DISH STORAGE

The IBM Systems Manufacturing Division plant in Kingston has a role in the production of the new system, which will be manufactured at IBM facilities in Rochester, Minnesota and Boca Raton, Florida. The Kingston plant produces special core storage assemblies and power supply units for the new system.

"System/3 packs a lot of computing power into a small package," said F. G. Rodgers, president of IBM's Data Processing Division, "and its price is well within reach of many businesses that believed they couldn't afford a computer of their own."

"Small businesses are constantly looking for faster and better ways to answer their day-to-day problems. System/3, with its advanced technology and innovative design meets this need," he said.

Retail and wholesale distributors, manufacturers and food processors are just a few businesses which can profitably use System/3 to help small companies stay competitive and grow, Mr. Rodgers said.

System/3 also can provide banks with a low-cost means for processing magnetically inscribed data from checks and other bank documents by attaching the recently announced IBM 1255 magnetic character reader.

System/3 customers can choose from two basic models: A punched card system or one featuring direct access disk storage. The user can start with a basic system and move up to the disk version as his business volume and data processing needs expand.

Many firms now using punched card data processing equipment controlled by wired panels—or no automated system at all—are expected to find System/3 a speedy tool for getting out their payrolls, planning and controlling inventories, billing, general accounting and handling accounts receivable and payable.

While designed primarily for small business, the system is also expected to find application in large firms that wish to decentralize data processing capabilities.

Movie Theater to Open

NEW PALTZ — The owner of Simmons Plaza here recently announced that a new motion picture theater would be opened in the shopping center by the middle of August.

Austin Simmons also announced that the opening of the theater will mark the completion of the phase one of construction. Phase two will commence either next year or the year after.

Presently there are eight business establishments operating in the plaza and according to Simmons a beauty shop and a diner will be added in addition to the new theater.

Simmons said the New Paltz shopping center has been the easiest one that he has owned, in which to rent space.

Simmons explained that there is obviously a demand for more commercial space in the community pointing out that his decision to build more stores was based on this demand.

Simmons also commented on a proposed idea to extend the New Paltz Sewer District to the site of the plaza, north of Route 299 in the eastern sector of the Town of New Paltz.

"I would certainly investigate it" operating private septic fields always poses problems.

Simmons further stated that he turned down an application to have a laundromat in the plaza, because large amounts of run-off from the laundromat "would have played havoc with my septic system."

WELCOMES AGENTS—Supervisor Thaddeus Musialkiewicz (R) of the Town of Ulster greeted members of the agency force of District 2 of Nationwide Insurance Co. at recent official opening of the new district sales office on Route 28, R.D. 2, Kingston. DeForest C. Wiles (L) is district sales manager serving Ulster and Sullivan counties. His office formerly was in New Paltz. The new office will be the sales administrative office and drive-in claims service for local policyholders. Standing between Wiles and Musialkiewicz are (L-R) Francis P. Stauble and Frank Adams. Other agents not shown are Jane Canino, Dennis Gilmore, S. Parks Glenn, Lawrence Glennon, George Goodwin, Joseph B. Kross, Marvin L. Magid, Alfred Mantell, Charles Montafia, Anthony Riozzi, Lawrence Zacher and William Zacher. (Freeman photo by Kruh)

Kolts Heads Financial Council

Election of officers of the Kingston Area Financial Council for 1969-70 highlighted a recent meeting held at the First Federal Savings and Loan Association, 235 Fair Street. Francis H. Kolts, vice president and senior lending officer of The State of New York National Bank, was named president.

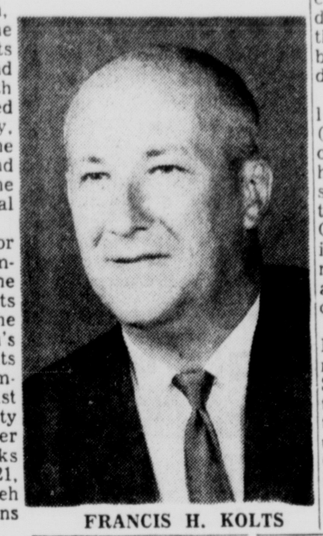

William F. Paulus was elected vice president. He is vice president and mortage officer of the First Federal Savings and Loan.

Joseph Brady, assistant vice president of the Kingston Savings Bank, was elected secretary of the association.

Members of the nominating committee were Irving L. Eyles, executive vice president of Rondout National Bank, chairman; H. VanWyck Darrow, executive vice president of Savings and Loan Association and Brady.

Kolts, a native of Kingston, is married to the former June B. Schipp. They are the parents of two children, Cheryl, 17, and Larry, 23, who is serving with the U.S. Army. Kolts started a banking career in January, 1945. He held positions with the National County Bank and through the merger with the State of New York National Bank.

He has held posts of director with the Chamber of Commerce, Red Cross and the Salvation Army, serving as its treasurer, and also with the Kingston Uptown Businessmen's Association and served as its president. He is past commander of the VFW and past president of Ulster County Shrine Club. He is a member of the Old Dutch Church, Elks Club, Ancient City Council 21, Knights Templar, Mt. Horeh Chapter 75, Royal Arch Masons and Cyprus Temple.

Toscani In Larger Quarters

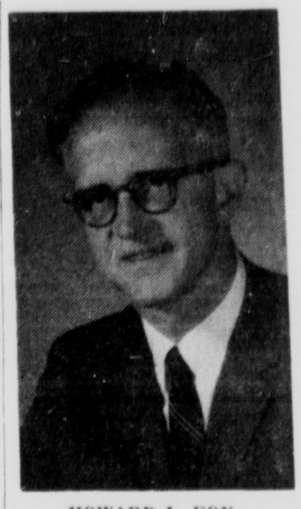

NEW PALTZ — Toscani and Sons, house of Quality, delicatessen and gourmet shop have moved to a larger quarters and are now doing business at 119 Main Street, in this village.

The proprietors said the new store is three times larger than the original place of business at 104 Main Street, and they are prepared to continue to feature delicatessen and gourmet foods with an emphasis on Italian and French delicacies.

With the larger quarters the Toscanis will have a large selection of imported soups and other imported canned goods in addition to ricotta, mozzarella, fresh and dry sausages, salads and imported and domestic cheeses. The wholesale distributions to restaurants and their catering services also will be expanded to meet the demands of their customers.

The Toscanis come from a long line of "Latticine" (producers and sellers of fine cheeses. The store operators have been involved in business since childhood and opened their first establishment here in October, 1965. The continuous increase in business made it necessary to move to the larger and more modern quarters to continue in business.

Mrs. Toscani's grandfather, Peter John Aiello, had cheese-making factories in Italy at Sorrento, Sardegnia and Battibaglio. In 1924 he arrived in this country and promptly set up a cheese business in Corona, Queens. (The family name in a recent ad published in The Freeman should have read Toscani.)

Lewis - Balling Wedding

Miss Diana L. Lewis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Lewis of West Camp, exchanged nuptial vows with John Joseph Balling, son of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Balling of Route 1, Catskill, Saturday, July 26, at Sacred Heart Church, Palenville.

The Rev. Father Ignatius of Sacred Heart Church, Palenville, officiated at the double ring ceremony. Mrs. Estella Potts, organist, accompanied Nelson Burhans who sang traditional wedding selections. Vases of white gladioli decorated the altar and white satin bows marked the family pews.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an empire style gown with full length peau de soie train. The gown featured Alencon lace embroidered with seed pearls. Her fingertip bouffant veil was attached to a ring of lace which also was embroidered with seed pearls, and she carried a cascade of bridal roses and white orchids.

Mrs. Virginia Rizzo, sister of the bridegroom, Yonkers, was matron of honor. She wore a mint green empire style gown of Alencon lace over peau de soie. Her headpiece was fashioned of nylon net leaves with Swiss braid rosettas and lilies of the valley with matching veil. She carried a nosegay of white chrysanthemums accented with yellow and white streamers.

Attendants were Bonnie Balling and Marie Balling, both of Catskill, sisters of the bridegroom: and Bonnie Lewis, cousin of the bride, Asbury. Their pale yellow gowns were fashioned identically to that of the honor attendant and they carried nosegays of white chrysanthemums with green and white streamers. All gowns were made by the bride's mother.

MRS. JOHN J. BALLING

Sgt. David R. Lewis, brother of the bride, Lakeside, Montana, was best man. Ushers were Joseph Rizzo, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, Yonkers; Joseph Klein, Whitestone; and Robert H. Lewis, cousin of the bride, Saugerties.

A reception for 100 guests was held at the High Woods Sportsmen's Club in High Woods.

For her wedding trip to upper New York State and Canada, the bride selected a pink, three piece outfit with bone accessories and a corsage of white orchids from her bridal bouquet.

The bride, a graduate of Saugerties High School and Krissler Business Institute in Poughkeepsie, is now employed at Prudential Insurance Company, Kingston.

Her husband, an alumnus of Catskill High School, is employed at Caldor Inc. of Kingston.

The couple will reside at RD 1, Box 280-B, Saugerties.

Wedding Vows Are Exchanged

Miss Mary Lou Josefski daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen J. Josefski of 88 Wrentham Street, Kingston, became the bride of Joseph Edward Esposito, Grant Avenue, Watertown, Mass., son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Esposito of 17 Crane Street, Kingston, on Saturday, July 26, at St. James United Methodist Church, Kingston.

The Rev. Harry D. Robinson Jr., pastor of St. James United Methodist Church, this city, officiated at the double ring ceremony, assisted by the Rev. C. Pershing Hunter, former pastor of St. James Church who is now district superintendent, Hudson East District, New York Conference of United Methodist Church. Robert H. Palmatier, organist, accompanied Mrs. Peter Mancuso who sang traditional wedding selections. Arrangements of white chrysanthemums decorated the altar.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white silk crepe gown in the empire style, fashioned with lace at the cuffs of the long sleeves, and a double tier of lace at the floor-length hemline. The gown featured a chapel train. Her silk illusion veil was attached to a lace and pearl pillbox headpiece, and she carried a colonial bouquet of sweetheart roses, miniature carnations, baby's breath, stephanotis, accented with delphinium.

Mrs. William H. Yates of Kingston and Miss Nancy Veley of Middleburgh were matron and maid of honor, respectively. Miss Susanne Josefski, sister of the bride, was junior bridesmaid. They wore lavender silk crepe gowns, fashiond with empire waistlines and short sleeves, served as their headpieces and they carried colonial chrysanthemums, centered with pink sweetheart roses.

Miss Dawn Josefski, sister of the bride, was flower girl. Her gown and bouquet were identical to those of the other attendants.

James S. Esposito, 17 Crane Street, this city, was best man for his brother. Ushers were Stephen J. Josefski Jr., Mark Josefski, brothers of the bride, Kingston; Edward Esposito, brother of the bridegroom; Alan Finger; and Richardo Esposito, all of Kingston.

A reception for 125 guests was held at the church hall.

For her wedding trip to Maine, the bride selected a brown and white plaid voile dress with white and brown accessories and a cymbidium orchid corsage.

The bride is a graduate of Kingston High School, class of 1965, and was graduated cum laude from Keuka College in Keuka Park in June. She will work as a registered nurse in psychiatric nursing at McLean Hospital, Belmont, Mass., and will do graduate work in psychiatric nursing at Boston University.

Her husband, an alumnus of Kingston High School, attnded U.S. Military Academy at West Point, and U.S. Army Officer's Candidate School at Fort Belvoir, Va. He is a 2nd lieutenant in the U.S. Army, stationed at Ft. Devens, Mass., and will study at Boston University.

The couple will reside at 20 Grant Avenue, Watertown, Mass.

Boice - Via Nuptials

St. Peter's Church, Kingston, was the setting Saturday, July 19, for the wedding of Miss Linda Lee Boice, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Boice of 24 Presidents Place, Kingston, and Sgt. Louis Charles Via, Stewart Air Force Base, Newburgh, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Via of 360 Northwest 62nd Court, Miami, Fla.

The Rev. Francis Brennan officiated at the double ring ceremony. Robert Moore, organist, accompanied Mrs. Francis Sass who sang traditional wedding selections. Arrangements of white gladioli, white chrysanthemums and turquoise pompons decorated the altar, and white satin bows marked the family pews.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of silk organza posed over bridal taffeta. The bodice and abbreviated sleeves were of peau d'ange lace and the skirt featured appliques of matching lace. Her chapel length mantilla, draped on a tiny pillbox, was edged with a deep border of scalloped lace, and she carried a stylized cascade of cymbidium orchids, stephanotis, English ivy, with white streamers.

Miss Patricia Jones of 25 Presidents Place, Kingston, was maid of honor. She wore a pale aquamarine crepe gown fashioned in the sheath style with empire bodice of white Venise lace. A stylized headpiece held her matching tulle flirtation veil, and she carried a colonial nosegay of red roses and baby's breath, accented with turquoise bows and streamers.

Attendants were the Misses Jaonne Healey, Vincent Street; Denise Renn, cousin of the bride, Andrew Street, both of Kingston; and Susan DesJardin, Main Street, Northport, L.I. Their gowns and headpieces were fashioned identically to that of the honor attendant, and they carried colonial nosegays of pink roses and baby's breath, accented with turquoise bows and streamers.

Larry Carubia of Clover Lane, Levittown, served as best man. Ushers were Jack Boice, David Boice, cousins of the bride, Catherine Street, Lyons; and Sgt. James Weatherford of Montgomery.

A reception for 158 guests was held at the Capri '400' Restaurant in Port Ewen.

For her wedding trip to the Pocono Mountains, Pennsylvania, the bride selected an aqua blue crepe dress with camelot sleeves and matching accssories.

The bride is a graduate of the Academy of St. Ursula and received her Bachelor of science degree from State University College at New Paltz. She will be employed as teacher for the Kingston Consolidated Schools.

Her husband, an alumnus of Miami Senior High School, attended Dade County Junior College, and is a management analyst at Stewart Air Force Base, Newburgh.

The couple will reside at 129 Downs Street, Kingston.

Hints from Heloise

Dear Heloise:

Since I prefer to wash dishes in half of my double sink and rinse in the other half, I had a problem. It was placing the drain-tray on the flat counter —no slant.

So I removed the legs of a wide paint-roller try, turned it upside down and placed it under the drain-tray.

Success.. I had an adjustable, tilted drain-tray that can be easily stored.

Bonnie Luetkemeyer

Dear Heloise:

Here's a hint from hikers and picnickers.

Did you know that you could freeze small cans of fruit juice? Nothing carbonated, of course, or it may burst.

After about three hours of hiking on a hot day, it will be thawed to just the right point for cool refreshment. The metal being very thin will cause the juice to melt just the right amount.

Marty Shideler

Dear Heloise:

Just read the suggestion about freezing the grease from oven-fried chicken to use the next time for gravy.

I like that idea but have also used this method:

A (whole) frying chicken usually has a large chunk of fat on the lower back. I cut that off, trim it into three or four little pieces, fry it slowly to get out the grease and e it for making gravy.

In case I forgot to save the grease from the last chicken, I can still make that wonderful chicken gravy.

ROBERT GURALNIK

Maverick Offers Concert

Maverick Concerts in Woodstock will present the Hudson Valley Quintet on Sunday, Aug. 3 at 3 p.m. Composed of first players with the Hudson Valley Philharmonic, the group will be assisted by leading pianist, Robert Guralnik.

One of the concert highlights for chamber music lovers will be "Trout" Quintet by Schubert, a well known, light hearted work. Kenneth Fricker will play the double bass and featured artist Luis Garcia-Renard will be cellist.

Another highlight will be Garcia-Renard playing three guitar works during the first half of the program. He will play "Six pieces of the Renaissance," a modern work "Two Studies for Guitar" by Villa-Lobos, and Vivaldi's "Concerto for Guitar and Strings."

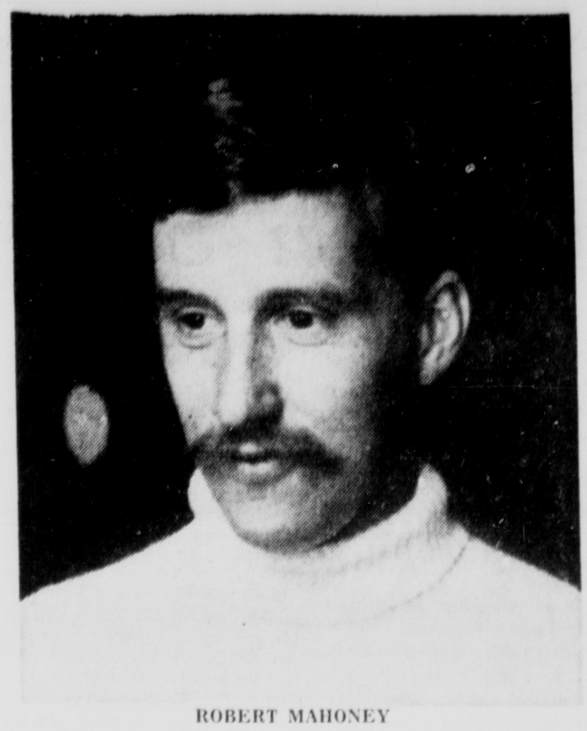

Guest artist Robert Guralnik has had seven European tours and five New York recitals, two of which were played in Carnegie Hall. The pianist, whose recordings include the Barber and Ginastera Sonatas, will be leaving soon for the Luzerne Festival.

Linda Cummiskey, violinist, is on the faculty of State University College at New Paltz. She studied with Isaac Stern and Broadus Erle and is first violinist for the Albany Quartet. She just returned from a tour of Africa.

Ellen Stenger, viola, came to the Hudson Valley because of her husband's tour of duty with the West Point Band. he has appeared as violin soloist with the Monteux Chamber Players and is also an accomplished violist.

Mr. Fricker, who plays bass, has appeared with the Hudson Valley Philharmonic for the past two years. He also does New York City concerts, TV dates and recordings. He is a member of the Group for Contemporary Music at Columbia University.

Luis Garcia-Renard is the featured artist on the program playing both cello and guitar. He studied with Casals, Rostropovich and Khachaturian, and has won prizes in international contests in Paris, Mexico and Israel. He has been with the Hudson Valley Philharmonic for the past five years and is on the music faculties of Bard and Vassar Colleges.

ROBERT MAHONEY

Paltz AAUW Meeting

At the last meeting of the New Paltz Branch of The American Association of University Women's study group, "The Academic Community — New Look on Campus," Robert Mahoney, Director of Community Relations for the Student Government Association at State University College of Education, New Paltz, N.Y., returned to lead a discussion about "student power."

For the minority of students who are radicals, "power" might be a good term to describe what they want, but really once they shake you out of your complacency, they just move on to another radicalism, the speaker stated. However, for the majority of students, "student responsibility" is a better term. Many students and faculty members are working together for a better understanding between faculty and students and for a better school. An example of this responsibility is the updating of the curriculum by the Student Curriculum Committee with the result of having their ideas sent to Albany, Mr. Mahony concluded.

The next meeting of the study group will be Wednesday, Aug. 27, 1969. Any AAUW member interested in joing the discussion, please contact Mrs. Richard D. Taylor in Modena.

Any college graduate who would like more information about the New Paltz Branch of the AAUW, should contact Linda Kilgallen, membership chairman, or Mrs. Frank Burnham, president, in New Paltz.

School of Art Will Open August Session

The Maverick School of Art in Woodstock is initiating its August session with a festival party to be held Saturday from 3 to 6 p.m. at the home of Dr. Frederick Elias on Chestnut Hill Road. The festival will feature beverages, Robin Wetterau's Jazz Band and an original play by Douglas Kelley entitled "Hubble de Shuff." There will be a nominal entrance charge with all the proceeds to benefit the new school.

The Maverick School of Art has been formed to provide an intense focus on the study of art. The instructors at the school are Lon Clark and Susan Elias; Paula Dooley is director of the school annex at 73 Tinker Street and the library of art books, reproductions and slides of paintings which the school maintains. Guest speakers will comprise a larger but informal faculty.

The school's intention is to remain small and will accept only students who have evidenced serious involvement and intent. Tuition is minimal to insure students an opportunity to study; full and partial scholarships are available to students who have genuine need. All students will share in the maintainence of the school.

Lon Clark received scholarships for study at the Silvermine Guild of Artists, Pratt Institute and the Art Students League of New York. He was co-founder of the Studio School in 1963-1964. He was selected for the 1966 Presentation Show at the Woodstock Artists Association, and received an award at the Albany Institute in 1968 and a purchase prize at the Munson - Williams - Proctor Institute in 1969. Last winter he presented a series of slide seminars on the history of art in New Canaan, Conn., and has been teaching drawing and painting at the Woodstock School of Art.

Susan Elias attended to Philadelphia College of Art, receiving a B.F.A. She received scholarships to Skowhegan (summer) School of Fine Art, and Columbia University where she received a M.F.A.; First Prize University Exhibit; and studied with Peter Agostini, Constantino Nivola. Miss Elias taught art and art history at Sullivan County Community College, the YW-YMCA in Queens, and New York City Public Schools. She has exhibited in group shows at Sculpture Guild, New York City. She received the Louis Comfort Tiffany Award for sculpture and has done set design and sculpture for productions at St. Mark's Church and Judson Theater. Miss Elias is presently working on environmental sculpture for parks and has been teaching drawing and sculpture at the Woodstock School of Art.

Paula Dooley attended Syracuse University. She studied with Edwin Dickinson and Morris Kantor at the Art Students League in New York. She received a scholarship at the Art Students League in Woodstock and studied at the Woodstock School of Art.

PhD for Anderson

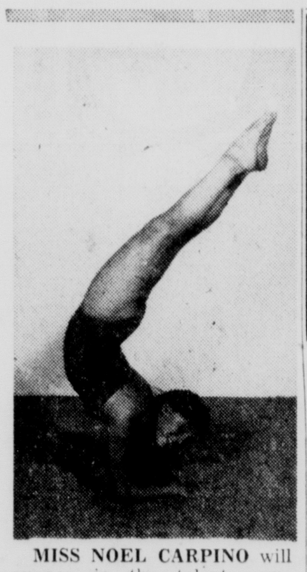

Stephen R. Anderson, husband of Suzan McClellan Anderson of Woodstock, has received his PhD in Linguistics from Massachusetts Institute of Technology where he studied under Professor Morris Halle and Professor Noam Chomsky.

He is a consultant with the Language Research Foundation, working on an evaluation of the Peace Corps teaching of English. He holds an appointment as assistant professor of linguistics at Harvard.

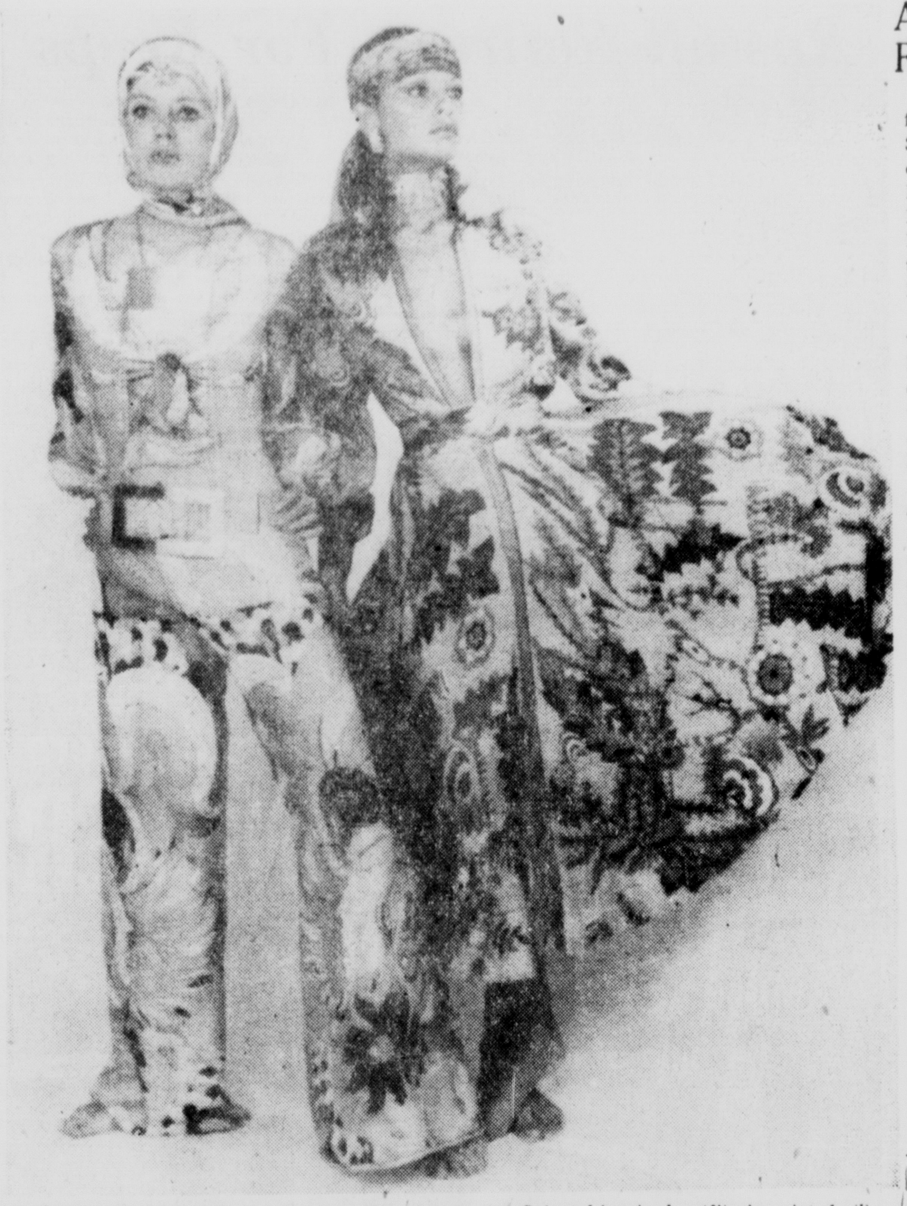

Suzan Anderson has a Bachelor of Science degree in Linguistics, and is continuing her studies at Harvard in Slavic Languages and Chinese. She and Professor Paula Menyuk of M.I.T. co-authored an article on the study and examination of pre-school children's identification and reproduction of speech sounds. The article was recently published in the "Journal of Speech and Hearing Research."

Mr. and Mrs. Anderson are the parents of an eight months old son, and reside at Cambridge, Mass.

Mrs. Anderson's parents, John and Doris McClellan, are residents of Woodstock.

MISS NOEL CARPINO will appear in the talent competition at Dutchess County Fair, Rhinebeck, on August 19, 20, and 21. Noel is the daughter of Mrs. Jennie Carpino of 95 Emerson Street, Kingston, and a student of Betty Bunce School of Dancing. (Photo Workshop)

Shea Stadium–Blast Off Pad

Bob Tillman's Trio Lost in Shuffle

(By The Associated Press)

Pity poor Bob Tillman. The Atlanta Braves catcher cracked three consecutive home runs and still ran third in the long ball derby.

First the Houston Astros used the New York Mets pitchers as a blast-off pad in cracking a pair of grand slam homers in one inning, a National League record.

Then slugging Hank Aaron, Tillman's teammate no less, picked Wednesday night to slam his way into third place on the all-time list of home run hitters, clouting his 537th lifetime circuit, to pass former New York Yankees great, Mickey Mantle.

The Braves, in a homer-hitting twi-night doubleheader, split with the Phillies at Philadelphia, winning the first 6-3 on five homers, three by Tillman, Aaron's 27th and a solo shot by Felipe Alou.

The Phils came back in the nightcap to nip the Braves 4-3 on Richie Allen's eighth inning homer, his second of the game. Johnny Callison's homer had tied it earlier in the inning.

In afternoon games Houston swept past the Mets in a doubleheader, 16-3 and 11-5 and San Francisco whipped Chicago 6-3. In night action St. Louis stopped San Diego 5-2, Cincinnati rapped Montreal 5-3 and Pittsburgh downed Los Angeles 4-2.

Before the doubleheader began, Tillman said he was hitting everything off the end of his bat.

"I was dribbling the ball. It looked like a bleak night," the 210-pounder said. But it only turned bleak for Phillies southpaw Grant Jackson, who served up all five Braves gophers.

Tillman hit his blasts in the second inning, in the fourth and sixth. The three gave him nine for the season and he went into the game hitting .176.

The 35-year-old Aaron, in his 16th major league season, smacked his 537th around the foul pole in left field in the third inning on a 1-0 pitch. It placed him third behind Babe Ruth, with 714, and the Giants' Willie Mays, who has 596—nine this year.

Aaron said he baited Jackson. The first pitch was outside and "I leaned out over the plate for it. I hoped he'd come inside with a curve or slider. He did," Aaron said.

In the nightcap, Atlanta jumped out to a 2-0 lead but Allen's first homer—his 20th—in the fourth with a man on, tied it. The Braves moved ahead 3-2 in the seventh on Felix Millan's run-scoring double but Callison knotted it with his 10th circuit and Allen followed with his game-winner.

The Astros set a National League record in slamming the two grand slams in one inning—the ninth of the first game—by Denis Menke and Jimmy Wynn as the Astros scored 11 times for an easy victory.

Larry Dierker rapped a two-run homer in the third inning of the nightcap, concluding a 10-run inning and eased his way to his 13th victory.

The two grand slams in one inning had occurred only once before in major league history, Harmon Killebrew and Bob Allison did it for the American League Minnesota Twins against Cleveland on July 18, 1962.

Pitcher Gaylord Perry opened a three-run ninth inning with a double and scored the tie-breaking run in the Giants victory over the Cubs.

Dave Marshall's single scored Perry and Bob Burda's wrapped it up with a two-run double, sending Perry to his 13th triumph.

Light-hitting Dal Maxville walloped a bases-loaded triple, keying a five-run seventh inning, that sent the surging Cardinals to their 18th victory in 23 games. Bob Gibson truck out 13 Padres in posting his 13th win.

Tony Perez tied the game with a run-scoring double in the eighth inning and pinchhitter Ted Savage followed with a two-run double sending the Reds past the Expos.

Manny Sanguillen rapped a tie-breaking eighth inning single, helping the Pirates to their victory over the Dodgers. Sanguillen scored the insurance run on a single and passed ball.

TWIN BOMBERS: Houston Astros' Dennis Menke (1) and Jim Wynn in dressing room after hitting grand slam homers in the ninth inning to highlight an 11-run Houston rally that gave the Astros a 16-3 victory over the New York Mets. It marked the first time in National League history two players from one team hit grand slammers in the same inning. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Dave's 17th Ties Record

By United Press International

Don Buford doubled in two runs in the seventh inning Wednesday night to lift the Baltimore Orioles to a 4-2 victory over the Kansas City Royals and give Dave McNally his 17th victory in a row—tying the American League record for consecutive victories over two seasons.

It was the 15th victory this season for McNally, who matched the two-season record for consecutive victories set by Johnny Allen of Cleveland when Allen won his last two games in 1936 and his first 15 in 1937.

The AL record of 16 straight wins in one season is shared by four pitchers. The major league record is 19 straight by Rube Marquard of the New York Giants in 1912.

With one out in the seventh, Mark Belanger reached first on a fielder's choice. McNally singled and Buford followed with his double, scoring Belanger and McNally.

Harmon Killebrew threw wildly after fielding Willie Horton's infied single in the eighth inning, enabling two runs to score as the Detroit Tigers beat the Minnesota Twins 3-1.

Killebrew, whose second inning error let in the first Detroit run, threw wildly on Horton's grounder with runners on first and second with one out. Tom Matchick and Al Kaline scored to give Detroit a 3-0 lead and wrap up the game.

Bill Robinson's two-out infield single in the ninth drove in the deciding run as the New York Yankees nipped the Oakland Athletics 3-2. Robinson beat out a hit to deep short, scoring Roy White who had walked and gone to third on Joe Pepitone's single.

Bill Melton drove in three runs with his 15th homer and Don Pavletich knocked in three more as the Chicago White Sox snapped an eight-game losing streak by defeating the Cleveland Indians, 11-6.

Andy Messersmith pitched a four-hitter for his 10th victory in his last 12 decisions and Jim Fregosi hit a homer and a triple to give the California Angels a 4-1 victory over the Boston Red Sox. Messersmith, who lost his first five decisions, boosted his record to 10-7 while besting Sonny Siebert.

Greg Goossen hit two homers to drive in three runs and hand Seattle a 4-3 victory over the Washington Senators. Goossen, acquired last Friday from Vancouver, hit a two-run homer in the fourth and added a solo blast in the seventh.

Yesterday's Stars

BATTING—Bob Tillman, Braves, hit three consecutive home runs, driving in four runs in Atlanta's 6-3 victory over Philadelphia in the opener of their twi-night doubleheader.

PITCHING—Bob Gibson, Cardinals, stopped San Diego on five hits and struck out 13 as St. Louis beat the Padres 5-2.

Russell Retires - - For Keeps

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Venerable Bill Russell, who led the Boston Celtics over the heavily favored Los Angeles Lakers and Wilt Chamberlain for the National Basketball Association title just three months ago, said Wednesday night that he was retiring from pro basketball and "thinking in terms of going into show business."

Russell appeared at the taping of the Joey Bishop television show to be seen across the nation Thursday night.

"I've just decided to quit playing basketball," he told guest host Chuck Connors. "After 25 years, I think you should put your heart and soul into it...and I was getting to the point where I was almost bored.

"It was like following yourself around but not quite. Every play, every timeout I've been through before.

"You can be a mercenary or a professional in basketball. A mercenary is paid for what he does. A professional gets paid but also is involved. I was afraid I was going to become a mercenary."

Russell would not answer questions of reporters and refused to have his picture taken.

He said he didn't consult his wife about his decision.

Everybody has a private entrance.

The Renault 10 was built to carry four people, so it made sense for it to have 4 doors.

But that's just one of the things that make sense about the Renault 10. It gets 35 miles to the gallon, a top speed of 85 miles per hour, has 11 cubic feet of luggage space, 4-wheel disc brakes, and 4-wheel independent suspension.

Clowns Here Tonight

Braves Top Lasers; Host Indianapolis

By MORT LAFFIN

POUGHKEEPSIE

Warming up for tonight's game with the Indianapolis Clowns, the Kingston Braves came up with eight runs in the top of the sixth inning to defeat the Poughkeepsie Lasers 8-1 in a Mid-Hudson Rookie League game at Riverview Field Wednesday night.

The Braves had originally scheduled the Clowns for last Sunday, but the rains came and the tilt was postponed until tonight, 8 p.m. at the Stadium.

Charlie Moore held the Northern Division leaders to one hit, that being a single by losing pitcher Mike White in the bottom of the seventh, when the home side tallied their only marker.

Moore had been perfect, in fact, until that time, allowing no runners to reach first base. "Chucking Charlie" only faced 23 of a possible 21 men in the seven inning stint.

Poughkeepsie, winners of the first round championship, are still in first place in the league with an 8-1-1 mark. Kingston is second at 7-1. Last night's win for the Braves marked the first time that the Kingston squad had defeated the Lasers this year.

Braves Score

White had been cruising along matching Moore pitch for pitch until the Braves lashed out with vengance in the sixth.

Bernie Schaffer, Kingston's answer to the "Road Runner," led off with a double and Greg Rios, slugging third baseman, delivered him with a long double.

Jerry Hawkins then walked, as did Ron Valle and Jack Watzka came up to single two home. Mike Patrick drew a walk and Rios came up again to single in two more markers, as the Braves batted around.

Hawkins Doubles

Hawkins, who managed the team in the absence of Paul Giannuzzi, then capped the eight-run uprising with a double to drive in two more Braves' markers, icing the tilt.

Poughkeepsie then brought in Mickey SaVino to finish the tilt. SaVino struck out the side in the seventh inning as the Lasers got on the scoreboard, but the damage had already been done.

MORE ON THE CLOWN'S GAME: The Indianapolis Clowns are the last of the big, barnstorming baseball teams left in the world. For years, their comedy routines and serious baseball has entertained fans of the game all over the world. Bobo Nickerson is the "Head Clown" and he is joined by midget Dero Austin, "Showboat" Hall and Butch Herdenon. The Braves will undoubtedly have their hands full at the Stadium tonight, time is 8 p.m.

INTERLUDE: Doug Sanders takes time out in his practice round to share a quiet moment with his wife, Scotty, at the Westchester Country Club. Sanders and other pro golfers will be going after the tour's richest purse-$250,000—when the Westchester Classic begins. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Fountain of Youth? Old Sam's Found It

HARRISON, N.Y. (AP) — "Call it quits? Not me—I'll play as long as these old legs and nerves can stand it," Sam Snead drawled.

The familiar cocoanut straw, at a jaunty angle, hid the balding pate of the 57-year-old golfing marvel. Tykes, refugees from Arnie's Army, swarmed around him for autographs. Middle-aged men in the gallery cheered their hero:

"Give 'em the devil, Sam". "Go get 'em, Sam"

The seemingly ageless Slammin' Sammy, perspiration streaming in small beads down his leathery face, elbowed his way through throngs of admirers at the Westchester Country Club and jested about his newly-discovered Fountain of Youth.

He had just shot a five-under-par 67 in the pro-am prelude to the $250,000 Westchester Classic Wednesday. A few days before, he had excited the sports world by trying for the Canadian Open crown and then losing in a close playoff to Tommy Aaron.

"Putting tips? Nerves? I still fight 'em—I fight 'em like a tiger," he said. "Sure, I feel 'em out there but I grit my teeth and I say, 'You're not gonna whip me.'"

Snead, winner of more than 100 tour tournaments in a career covering more than 30 years, admitted that it's nerves—and not the legs or physical deterioration—that cuts short the career of the competitive golfer.

"Physically," Sam said, "I feel almost as strong as I ever did. From tee to green, I hit the ball as well as I did in the 1930s. It's putting that gets me. Nerves. I'm fighting 'em all the time."

It was Ben Hogan who said at the Masters a couple of years ago that he left his "blood in every hole."

"I don't talk like Ben,' 'Sam said, "But I know how he felt."

"I intend to play as long as the money is big," Sammy said.

Snead, a hillbilly from Hot Springs, Va., playing out of the Greenbrier Club in White Sulphur Springs, West Va., was the newest of rookies when he won his first tournament in Oakland, Calif., in 1937.

He had a head full of hair, a 30-inch waist a pair of squeaking brogan shoes, and a drawl that made four syllables out of "Howdy,".

After he won at Oakland, he leaped three feet out of his chair when a photographer exploded a flash bulb.

The next day, a friend showed him his picture in the New York Times.

"This is a fake," Sam fumed. "I've never been to New York in my life."

RAY DUBOIS and HARRY SCHALL

DuBois Tandem Cops Member-Guest Play

WOODSTOCK

Ray DuBois, one of Woodstock Country Club's top golfers, had fulsome praise for his guest, Henry Schall of Maryland, following their one-stroke win in the annual Member-Guest tournament.

'He gave me plenty of help," he remarked after he and Schall had teamed for a 36-hole, best ball score of 58-62-120 for a one stroke margin over the runnerup tandem of Joe Modica and Charles Stauffer (Wiltwyck). They posted 58-63-121.

Among other tidbits, Schall's "help" consisted of two birdies on the exacting par-three No. 4 hole in successive rounds, as No. 4 Saturday and No. 13 on Sunday.

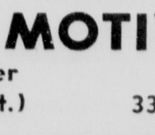

DuBois, an 11 handicapper, fired 77 on his own ball in the first round and Schall, 14 handicap, had 85. They played it right down the middle-82 each-in the second round.

"We didn't do anything spectacular," said DuBois. "We just played steady golf and complemented each other well." In best ball competition that's an unfailing formula.

Two teams tied with 122's — Anthony Pizzarelli and Paul Coon, 62-60 and Ken Harder and Robert Carnright, 60-62. Ray Morse and Hank Yochman carded 62-61-123.

Harvey Bostic of Wiltwyck Country Club, who was the guest of John Hasbrouck, fired 69-68-137 on his own ball. The team posted 66-61-127.

South Side Upsets Spartan Pools, 2-0

SAUGERTIES

Southside Men's Club may be in last place in the Yankee Division of the Saugerties Softball League, but you couldn't prove it by the Spartan Pools nine as the cellar-dwellers dumped the previously unbeaten Spartans, 2-0, Wednesday night. The Poolmen now own an 8-1 record, Southside is 2-8.

Bill Fiscaletti was the winning pitcher, holding the losers to just five hits. Fiscaletti had a previous record of 0-6, going into last night's action.

George Norton took the loss and needed relief help from Billy Stokes. Both pitchers allowed the winners but four hits, however that was enough.

The scoreless duel cracked in the fifth inning when Tony Konopka reached first on a throwing error by Norton. He was sacrificed to second and scored on a single by Ed Pelham.

Southside iced the tilt in the seventh as John Freleigh walked and scored on a triple by Mario Cruz. It was the first time during the season that the Spartans gave up an earned run.

Cruz had two hits in three trips for the winners, while Tom Fiore, one of the league's leading hitters, had a perfect night, going three-for-three.

In the Met Division, Ted's Esso moved into first place in the Town Conference with a 5-4 win over Ferroxcube. Ted's now posts an 8-2 mark.

Mrs. Treat Leads Tourney

KINGSTON

Mrs. Richard Treat carded a 2-under women's par net 35 to lead the Wiltwyck Country Club women's Ladies Day Blind Hole tournament.

There were two ties for the runnerups slots—Mrs. Clifford Spiesman and Mrs. Charles Kovacs with 39's and Mrs. Seymour Werbalowsky and Mrs. Werner Kohn with 40's.

Wiltwyck women golfers were involved in the postponed Ulster County women's championship tournament at Ellenville today, following a postponement from Tuesday.

A mixed Member-Guest tournament is slated Saturday at Wiltwyck.

The Wiltwyck women's championship will be contested over 54 holes of medal play on Aug. 11, 13 and 15, in three classes—A, B and C.

Hoot Mon Trot Sweep For Vernon Dancer

MONTICELLO

It was Vernon Dancer night at Monticello Raceway Wednesday, with the veteran teamster from New Egypt, N. J., taking both ends of the $22,852 Hoot Mon Trot, second night Grand Circuit feature for two-year-old colts and geldings.

Victory Star, sent off as the 1-2 favorite in the first division, romped to an easy victory for Dancer, while 15-1 outsider Armbro Kwik came back to take the $11,276 second division as the result of a break.

Candidly, the 6-5 favorite driven by Vernon's older brother, Harold Sr., held the upper hand throughout the entire mile route, but went into a break nearing the finish line and was placed second by the judges.

The goof resulted in a big payoff for backers of Armbro Kwik, who received mutuels of $35.00, $8.80 and $4.00 for their investments.

Candidly, a New York-bred son of Egyptian Candor, went past the quarter-mile stops in :32.4, 1:07.2 and 1:39.1, and appeared to have the race well in hand until the costly break.

Victory Star, a bay colt out of former Arden Homestead Stable trotting great Matastar, went virtually unchallenged in the $11,567 first division of the Hoot Mon. Dancer took the Fury Stable trotter to the top from the number two post position and never lost the lead. Victory star returned $3.00, $2.40 and 2.10.

After trotting quarters of :32.1, 1:05.3 and 1:37.3, Victory Star closed in :30.3 seconds to win by two lengths over New York-bred Gunner, a son of Sharpshooter.

Dancer wasn't surprised that none of the others in the six-horse field took up a challenge. "His last two lines showed that he could go to the top in a stakes race and still come home pretty good," Vernon said, "so I figured no one would bother us at least until the half."

As it turned out, no one bothered until Bill Haughton attempted to come up on the outside with Manana rounding the final turn. "I knew he'd be pretty tough coming home," Dancer added confidently.

Victory Star, purchased for $7,500 as a yearling at Lexington, Ky., suffered from splint problems earlier in the year, according to Dancer. "He didn't do too well down at Goshen, but it was a real hard track that day," Dancer explained. "Since then we've fixed him up and he's turned out to be a good mannered horse."

Gil Hanover, who appeared to be the class of the two-year-old trotting ranks earlier in the season, was scratched from the second division of the Hoot Mon. The Bill Haughton-trained son of Hickory Smoke came down with the virus just before the Goshen-Historic meet earlier this month and hasn't been back in action since.

He had won seven in a row before then, and is still suffering from the illness.

Bright Sun Captures Schuylerville Stake

SARATOGA (AP)—Bright Sun won the 52nd running of the $25,000 added Schuylerville today by six lengths on a track rated "good" under clever handling by jockey Eddie Belmonte. Her stablemate in the Wheatley Stable silks, Stolen Base, was placed second when Philip Godfrey's, Corte Oadera was disqualified from that position and set back to last in the field of five. James Cox Brady's Meritus, the odds-on choice moved up to third spot.

With only straight and place betting in the Schuylerville, the second choice Wheatley entry returned $5.40 and $4.20. The winner, a homebred two-year-old daughter of Tatan—Beautiful Day earned $18,460 as her share of the Schuylerville's $28,400 gross value and chalked up her first stakes victory. It was the second win for the chestnut filly in three starts and she literally breezed home in 1:12 with no need of more than a hand ride from Belmonte. Both her prior starts were at Aqueduct where she finished third in her debut on July 3 and then beat a field of maidens by four lengths on July 17.

A trophy presentation in the winners circle by James Carey, mayor of the nearby town of Schuylerville was received by trainer Edward A. Neloy on behalf of the owners of Weatley Stable.

Cautious Silence to Date After Steel Price Increase

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The steel industry's pacemaking U.S. Steel Corp. has posted price increases average 4.8 per cent on a range of big-tonnage products that are used for such items as cars, refrigerators and tin cans.

Wednesday's move the boldest since Bethlehem Steel Corp.'s 5 per cent across-the-board hike was whittled to 2 per cent by the White House last August was met with cautious silence by other producers and major users and drew only a mild rebuff from Washington.

U.S. Steel said the principal reason for the price hikes was to pay increases that some 400,000 steelworkers will get Friday under a contract negotiated last summer. The increased labor cost has been estimated at 6 per cent.

But the nation's largest producer also cited increased costs of materials and services and higher taxes as justification for the new prices, which take effect next Wednesday.

The products affected, carbon sheet and strip and galvanized sheet, account for more than half of the industry's shipments. U.S. Steel declined to say what proportion of its production was affected, but trade sources estimated that the increases would add $80 million annually in profits.

In the past, U.S. Steel has set price trends for the industry, but Wednesday's announcement generated no immediate action by other producers.

Spokesmen for Bethlehem, Inland, National, Republic and Jones & Laughlin would say only that the U.S. Steel action was under study.

The move was greeted with official silence by the nation's four major automakers, which would feel the increased costs in steel orders for 1970 models.

But a spokesman for one of them, who asked to remain anonymous, called the hike "pretty high" and added: "Our guys can't believe it."

In Washington, Vice President Spiro T. Agnew described the increase as 'another indicator the economy needs the surtax—another indicator of inflation." He said any formal action would have to wait until President Nixon returns from his Asian tour Monday.

In 1968, President Lyndon B. Johnson forced a rollback by Bethlehem and in 1962 a $6 per ton across-the-board steel increase drew the wrath of President John F. Kennedy.

It came one day after the company said its second quarter earning had dropped 48 per cent compared with the same period last year. U.S. Steel said this year's earnings dropped from 1968's $102.9 million to $53.3 million.

Police Issue 18 Summonses

KINGSTON

While police were on radar patrol on Route 32 Wednesday night checking passing vehicles, they stopped a car operated by Hazel DePaola, 61, of Goldrick Court, to check her license and registration certificates.

Police cited the woman for unlicensed operation, failure to produce a registration certificate, obstructing governmental administration and resisting arrest following an incident. She later was released pending an appearance in City Court.

During the radar road check, police issued 17 other summonses charging motorists with speeding.

Youth Pleads To Trespass on Milton Charge

HIGHLAND

David Liefer, 19, of 228 Mill Street, Poughkeepsie, who was arrested on a charge of third degree burglary in connection with a liquor store break in, pleaded guilty Wednesday before Lloyd Town Justice Linn Baker to a reduced charge of criminal trespass, first degree.

Liefer was sentenced to one year in the county jail.

State Police said the youth and a juvenile were accused of burglarizing Griffo's wine and Liquor store on Milton Avenue early yesterday.

The two were taken into custody in Poughkeepsie by Patrolman Joseph Bruno who found them in possession of a quantity of liquor and about $6 in cash that reportedly was stolen from the store. Troopers said the liquor was valued at $70.

Lieger and the boy were turned over to troopers from here. The juvenile was released in custody of his parents pending an appearance in Family Court at a later date.

Leeward Islands Brace for Blow By Storm Anna

MIAMI (UPI) — Tropical storm Anna raced toward land today and the northern Leeward Islands braced for a 55-mile-an-hour blow.

Gale warnings were run up from the resort island of Antigua North and a hurricane watch was in effect for the British and U.S. Virgin Islands. The eye of the storm was expected to pass near Barbados Island, just east of the Virgin Islands, at midday.

At midnight EDT, the weather bureau in San Juan, P.R. placed the center of the storm near latitude 16.7 north and longitude 57.5 west. That's about 275 miles east of Antigua and 575 miles east-southeast of San Juan. The storm was moving west-northwest at 20 to 22 miles an hour.

While Anna's 70 mile-an-hour winds weakened Wednesday to 50 to 55 miles an hour, the storm doubled its foward speed.

NOT RELATED

The horse chestnut is not related to the chestnut. The former is a member of the beech family, along with oak.

CSEA Gets Most Votes In Representation Election

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The Civil Service Employes Association Wednesday won the right to represent state administrative workers, by collecting more than two-thirds of all the votes cast in that representation election.

The administrative workers were the third of five units to have their votes tabulated. The remaining two will be announced by the Public Employment Relations Board (PERB) Thursday and Friday.

In Wednesday's counting, CSEA collected 18,643 votes out of a total vote of 24,198.

Second in the balloting was Council 50, American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employes, AFL-CIO, which received 2,428 votes.

Also, the Service Employes International Union received 28 votes, 230 persons voted to have no representation, and 2,862 votes were challenged.

Tuesday, CSEA won bargaining rights for state professional, scientific and technical workers, defeating Council 50, by a vote of 15,290 to 3,282.

Monday, however, security unity state employes selected a three-union amalgamation, including Council 50, to represent them rather than CSEA. The Security Unit, American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employes, AFL-CIO, defeated CSEA 2,733 to 1,825.

That unit is a combination of Council 50, the Correction Officers Association and the Safety Officers Benevolent Association.

Council 50 opposed CSEA on its own in elections in the other four units, and both groups conducted a long and expensive campaign.

The five separate state bargaining units total more than 148,000 workers.

Ballots were sent out last month and were to be returned by July 21.

To win bargaining rights for a unit, a union must win a clear majority of that groups voters. Should this not happen, then a runoff election would be held.

Wawarsing Special Police Set Organizational Meet

ELLENVILLE

Town of Wawarsing Special Police, who serve as an auxiliary arm to the town constables, will hold an organizational meeting on August 12 at the town hall, here.

According to Town of Wawarsing Supervisor, Frank Harkin, the primary purpose of the meeting "is to review the school schedule, set up active duty rosters, select officers, review the equipment, and develop rules and regulations."

The special police have attended eight instructional sessions conducted by the New York State Police and five classes conducted by the Federal Bureau of Investigation, since November 1968.

Harkin noted that the special police have been a great asset to the community and functioned exceedingly well during the recent heavy rains, operating safety patrols and a communications network designed to keep local officials informed of situations in any part of the township.

"I look forward to further assistance in developing this force of dedicated citizens," Harkin said. "The town will benefit from their service."

Burns Fatal

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — A 13-year-old girl from Romulus, N. Y. died in a Denver hospital Wednesday from third - degree burns over 90 per cent of her body.

Police said May Ellen LaBrun, traveling with her parents to the west coast, scalded herself Saturday while taking a shower in a motel. Mary Ellen's screams brought her father who had to force the door to the shower to reach his daughter.

Red Novelist Gets Asylum In England

LONDON (UPI)—Soviet novelist Anatoly Kuznetsov hid today in a secret refuge with a promise of permanent British asylum. He said he gave his Russian chaperone the slip by excusing himself to seek a prostitute in London's seedy Soho district.

Kuznetsov got in trouble with the Soviet Union's Communist establishment with his stories of unflattering pictures of life under collectivism. But he said the biggest reason he defected was disgust with the Soviet invasion of Czechoslovakia.

The British Home Office said Wednesday night Kuznetsov had asked for and received permission to stay in England indefinitely following 44 hours as a missing person sought by Scotland Yard.

A Home Office spokesman said Britain was not granting Kuznetsov political asylum, which would carry recognition he was in jeopardy from the Kremlin because of his political views.

Kuznetsov, 40, a heavy-set bespectacled native of the Soviet Ukraine, was accompanied on his arrival in London last week by Georgi Andjaparidze, a Soviet Secret Service agent listed officially as an interpreter. Kuznetsov speaks no English. They had arrived so Kuznetsov could work on a book on the life of V. I. Lenin.

The Soviet embassy said nothing about the incident, but Andjaparidze expressed shock. "He was last seen with a girl in Soho," he said.

Kuznetsov and Andjaparidze spent the afternoon Monday watching a striptease show in one of Soho's many 24-hour strip clubs. The novelist said he told his companion later he wanted to be alone so he could look for a prostitute.

Sub Joins Fleet

WASHINGTON (UPI) —A nuclear submarine has joined a Soviet flotilla now maneuvering in the Gulf of Mexico west of Florida, according to the Defense Department. The sub joined the flotilla after the task force left Cuba where it had been paying a courtesy call. The fleet is now about 380 miles west of Key West, Fla., and a Pentagon spokesman said it was believed the closest a Soviet atomic sub has ever come to U.S. shores.

Area Singer Entertainer at The Hobbit

KINGSTON

Featured entertainer at the Hobbit Coffeehouse this Friday and Saturday will be Terence Hegarty, 23-year-old folk singer from the Ohayo Mountain section of Woodstock.

The Hobbit performance will be the first professional appearance for the young balladeer although he has played as an amateur at many coffeehouses in the New York City area before coming to Woodstock several months ago.

Doors open at the coffeehouse 7:30 p.m. with show time at 8 p.m. The Hobbit is in the basement of the Fair Street Reformed Church.

Dear Abby

Checks Bounce High!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

(© 1969 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: My 47-year-old husband of 25 years is a living doll, but he is driving me to distraction with his check writing!

We have a joint checking account, but I have learned from experience that I don't dare write a check for even two dollars because it might bounce.

My husband writes checks like crazy without listing them, so consequently we never know how much we have in our account.

When we were first married our checking account got into such a mess that we closed that account and opened up a new one in another bank. Pretty soon we were all messed up again, and had to close that account. Well, we are on our FIFTH bank now, and it looks like we're going to have to find a new bank again.

What's the solution, Abby? My husband is really a sweet guy, but when it comes to writing checks, he's a big jerk.

JUDY

DEAR JUDY: Insist that your checkmate turn in his checkbook. If he refuses, face it, you're married to a 'living doll" who is really a sweet guy, but when it comes to writing checks, he's a big jerk."

DEAR ABBY: My parents were divorced 24 years ago. I was an infant at the time. My mother received no child support, and my father never remembered me on my birthday or Christmas. It was like I never had a father.

My mother is now in the process of divorcing her fourth husband, and my father was just divorced by his thrid wife. And guesss what? My parents have "re-discovered" each other and are planning to get married!

I am so embarrassed I can hardly hold my head up. I love my mother, but I told her that if she marries that man she can forget that I'm her daughter.

Am I wrong to be so bitter? Or must I smile and act like I think it's the greatest idea since sliced bread? Thank you.

SOUR GRAPES

DEAR SOUR: If you "love" your mother, change your tune. Actually, HER happiness is more important than YOUR face.

DEAR ABBY: For the woman who wished they'd quit writing articles telling WOMEN how to hold their men, and instead write a few telling MEN how to hold their WOMEN: They say one of the main ways for a man to get more 'loving" is to BATHE regularly. How true!

Sometimes words won't do it. I recommend the following: Place all his shaving stuff, deordorant, talcum powder, and cologne together where he can see it in the bathroom. Then with your lipstick, draw a big red heart on the bathroom mirror. Then make an arrow pointing to the shaving stuff, deodorant, etc. Then put some lipstick on your lips and kiss the mirror. (Don't worry, it's easy to wipe off.) This is very sexy and unless he's dead, he'll get the message.

Next, put a lacy nightie on, spray yourself and the bedclothes with a lovely fragrance, and I guarantee you this will pep up your marriage.

If your husband is one of those who is too lazy to bathe and expects you to be loving anyway, keep moving. Also, spray the room with air freshener, say, "Whew" all the time you're spraying, and when you're thru, keep fanning the air with a newspaper.

I am no nut. I'm a married woman with four kids by three different husbands and none of my marriages has been dull. Life is short, Girls, so live it up, and love it up. I never met a man I didn't find sexy in some way.

BARBS

By PHIL PASTORET

This is the most healthful town in the country on Wednesdays — all the doctors take off, and you don't DARE get sick.

* * *

They call'em "patients" because that's what you have to be in our local bandage emporium.

* * *

An old-timer is a fellow who can recall seeing a dirigible sail majestically over the neighborhood.

* * *

They call 'em "pop" tunes because they're enough to make you blow your mind.

* * *

If you are over 4-foot-7 and shave, don't get sick. Hospital mirros aren't meant for tall people.

* * *

You need a prescription to get a pill in the hospital — excepting the human kind who crop up on the staff now and then.

WHY WE SAY

BY JINGO

DEVIL: We use this expression innocently enough today. But it was invented by the Basques as a means of invoking the wrath of the Devil on people. Jingo meant the Devil.

Horoscope

It's In The Stars

("The wise man controls his destiny . . . astrology points the way.")

FORECAST FOR FRIDAY, August 1

MENU TIP: Feature eye appeal; food should be reasonably spiced and color red should be highlighted. A curry dish, glazed ham or marinated top sirloin chunks would fill the bill. Include salad and dessert. the 1968-69 college year:

NEWS BEFORE IT HAPPENS: Nations, individuals are rubbing sensitive points in alliances. Some partnerships, including marriages, are undergoing crisis period.

* * *

ARIES (March 21-April 19): You may be called upon to settle dispute. Key is to remember past obligations. Be willing—but work within familiar framework. Learn rules before attempting to supplant them. Be thorough.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Work and health are highlighted. There is task which must be completed. But you also require rest, relaxation. Strive for balance. You could make important contact tonight.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Exciting social event is featured. Exchange of ideas provides intellectual stimulation. Express views. Don't permit yourself to be bullied. Participate as full and equal partner.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): You may find that you are carrying more than your share of responsibility. Frank discussion with family members clears air. Be receptive, but also get your own points across.

LEO (July 23-Aug.22): May not be wise, to wander too far from home base. Study AIRES message. Be sure messages are sent, received. Important to correctly interpret meanings.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Be specific, even stern, where money enters picture. Be sure others are living up to their obligations. If careless, you invite loss. Know this and proceed accordingly.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Your attitude about certain persons, situations tends to be ambivalent. Your moods today are subject to change. Agreements, partnership could be broken. Be prepared. Don't be caught off guard.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Secrets are revealed. You are relieved. You actually have nothing to hide. Now stress harmony. Be diplomatic, especially in dealings within family circle.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Romance is accepted. Atmosphere of glamor prevails. Fine evening for attending theater, special affair which benefits charitable institution. Don't get bogged down with details.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Change of scenery indicated. What was familiar takes on exciting glow. Means you are presented with challenge. You could be concentrating on home improvement, residence change.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Avoid unnecessary journeys. Finish current task. You are due for recognition. But you must show that you mean what you say. Today you get chance to prove basic claims.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Protect possessions. Be independent. Don't allow anyone to push you around. Study CANCER message. Get money's worth. Don't substitute for quality. Evaluate your needs—then do something about them.

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY you are a natural showman with great appeal for opposite sex. By October, your financial position swings upward. If single, marriage is on the horizon.

TEEN FORUM

AGE PLUS (Q.) There's this boy. I work with him at a resort. I'm 16 and he's 26.

After my mom found out he was married, divorced, and had two children, she told me I mustn't go out with him.

But I really like him and I don't think the age difference counts. Do you?—A Reader in Bridgeport, Conn.

(A.) Yes, the age does count! At 26 he is a man, not a boy. And he has seen more than you are ready to see..

Let him look around for a woman to tell his troubles to and to take care of him and his two children.

You're too young. You're a girl. You look around for a boy to go with OLD-FASHIONED: (Q.) My sister and I are twins. Our mother is very strict and old-fashioned. She makes us wear anklets and dresses below our knees.

When we try to talk to her she says to stop talking back to her. Our father is the same way. What shall we do?—16-Year-Old Twins in Long Dresses in Virginia.

(A.) Be thankful that your parents love you enough to be strict with you. I wish you could read all the mail I get from kids whose parents just don't care.

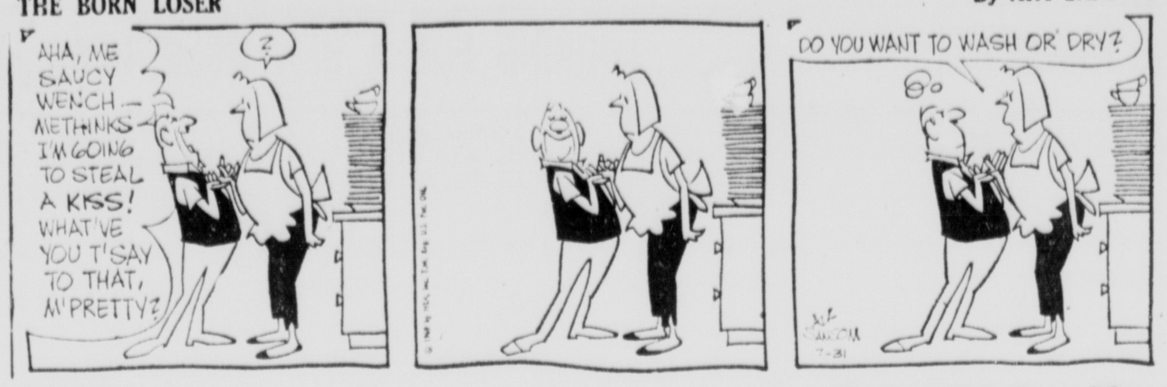

Your job is to educate your father and mother to the fact that ways of living change and that those who refuse to adapt to change, at least in moderation, are likely to get left behind in life.

First spend a week or two setting yourselves right with your parents, saying nothing that might be called "talking back." Then try to convince them that they should relax their rules a little. Let them know you don't want mini skirts but do need to get yours above your knees. Dresses below the knees are out! So are socks.

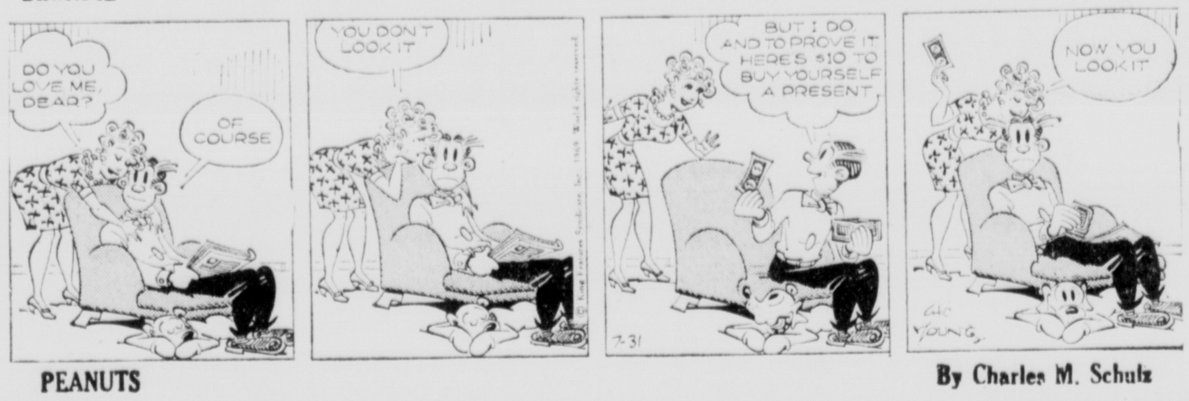

URGENT MESSAGE: Hopeful, Camden.: Please write me as soon as you see this. I have good news for you—Jean Adams

Debbie Talks About TV'er

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Television needs another half-hour situation comedy like CBS-TV needs the Smothers Brothers.

But "The Debbie Reynolds Show" will make its debut on NBC-TV Sept. 16.

What can Debbie do that Marlo Thomas, Diahann Carroll, Doris Day, Lucille Ball, Barbara Eden and Elizabeth Montgomery can't?

Well, she can be Debbie Reynolds for openers. The others can't.

10 Writing Teams

"We have 10 teams of young writers with new ideas," Debbie explained in her luxurious Beverly Hills home. "Before we started production we had 10 completed scripts. We're different because we're prepared.

"Most shows start with two scripts. After that they're in trouble. Preparation is the important thing, and I'm hard to please. We've already completed nine episodes and I think they're good."

Debbie will play the meddlesome wife of a famous sports writer (played by Don Chastain) who drives her husband up the walls.

The scripts call for Debbie to be involved in a series of misadventures with hockey teams, lady wrestlers, taking flying lessons and other sports-oriented madness. She is doing most of the stunt work herself.

"I like physical comedy," she said. "A long time ago Dick Powell told me I was a baggy pants comedian at heart. I believed him."

Debbie is the wife of multi-millionaire Harry Karl. Her home is a show case and she is a frequent hostess to Hollywood's pretty people.

Is A Doer

Why, then, does she feel compelled to work in a situation comedy?

"I would have to work," she said. "I'm a doer. I can't sit around the house. If I did, I'd work harder than I do acting—cleaning things, moving furniture around, writing letters. Everything.

"I just have too much energy to be a housewife.

"But I don't want to get tied down as a business woman. I gave away half my ownership in the series to Filmways so they will be responsible for all the production headaches. I won't be involved in anything except acting and the scripts.

"I wish I'd gone into a television series four years ago," Debbie concluded. "I guess it's not possible for me to make movies for the time being—I don't like the idea of taking off my clothes while the cameras look on."

Poor Play Aids in Bad Breaks

By Oswald & James Jacoby

South went right up with dummy's ace of clubs and lost no time playing ace and a small diamond. He ruffed the next club, ruffed a diamond and started happily after trumps. When East showed out on the second trump, South stopped to study the hand but the boat had sailed without him. He had to go down one trick.

South remarked, "I guess I bid too much, but the contract was all right. Trumps just never break for me."

The contract was a good one indeed, and South could have made it, bad break and all, if he had just played with a little caution.

At trick two, he should have ruffed a club. Then he could have played ace and another diamond. East would almost surely have won the diamond and would have seen no reason not to lead another club.

South would trump that also, ruff his last diamond in dummy and then lead trumps. East would show out on the second trump lead but that wouldn't hurt South. He would simply lead a spade to dummy's ace, ruff dummy's last club with his last low trump and wind up making all of his six trumps, the three side aces and the diamond ruff in dummy.

West would still make his jack of trumps but he would ruff his partner's good spade with it.

Of course, there was some risk to this line of play. West, given only a few clubs, together with three trumps to the jack, might overruff a club to set an otherwise lay-down contract. Furthermore, the hand still could have been beaten if East had just led a trump instead of a club when he got in with the diamond. South would never be able to score his three small trumps.

MODULE PRECAUTIONS—Mike Crewey (L) 7, and Dan McDaniel, 7, watch the unloading of the Apollo 11 command module after it arrived at Ellington Air Force Base, Texas, on Wednesday on its way to isolation, along side the Apollo 11 astronauts, in the Lunar Receiving Laboratory at the Manned Spacecraft Center. The hatch of the spacecraft, sealed since the crew left it in the Pacific Ocean July 24, will not be opened until the vehicle is inside the laboratory. The precautions are taken against any unknown moon organisms that may exist on the lunar surface. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Mariner 6 in Closest Mars Look And Then Swings Into Sun Orbit

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI)—Mariner 6 swept triumphantly past Mars today with its cameras and instruments taking "near encounter" readings from 2,130 miles away, trying to learn whether the Red Planet can support life.

The little unmanned spacecraft worked perfectly on a 241 million miles, five-month flight that saw it make its closest approach 1:19 a.m. EDT today before it swung into orbit around the sun.

For more than seven hours Wednesday night, scientists at the California Institute of Technology Jet Propulsion Laboratory lost communication wth its twin spacecraft Mariner 7, and it was feared that half the epic probe of the Red Planet might be blacked out.

Mariner 7 was flying five days behind Mariner 6.

Contact was lost at 6:03 p.m EDT Wednesday, but at 1:20 a.m. EDT today the signal was re-established by switching to another antenna aboard the craft and it appeared Mariner 7 would make a similar sweep past Mars starting Friday night.

Mariner 6 took not only closeup pictures of the equatorial area of Mars, but also had delicate instruments taking the planet's temperature and recording the gases and density of the atmosphere, the presence of oxygen, nitrogen and—most important of all—whether there are any traces of water.

Those clues may provide an answer to whether Mars, 58 million miles from earth at the time of encounter, has an environment in which life can exist.

A project spokesman said today the near encounter experiments went "beautifully" with the exception of the infrared spectrometer which was supposed to analyze the martian atmosphere.

He said a refigeration unit that was supposed to cool one of the device's two sensors to 400 degrees below zero malfunctioned, rendering the sensor useless.

No important information was lost he said, but the mishap would make it more difficult to figure out information about the presence of ammonia, methane, carbon dioxide and water in the atmosphere.

Thus far, Mariner 6 has beamed back to earth 50 television pictures of Mars taken from a distance of 771,500 miles at the beginning of the series to 111,950 miles at the end.

The two dozen pictures taken early today during the flypast will be transmitted to earth this afternoon. They will not be displayed on live monitors but prints will be made public Friday.

The "far encounter" batch of pictures show the ragged rim of the south polar cap of Mars, never seen before, and fields of clouds floating over the northern part of the orb.

Dr. Robert Leighton, head of the photo analysis team of the Mariner project, said the clouds were either water vapor or vaporized carbon dioxide. He hoped information from Mariners 6 and 7 would tell which.

Leighton said the clouds might be indications of local warm spots or subsurface water. Most scientists believe there is not much chance of finding surface water on the planet.

Leighton also pointed out three faint lines on the martian surface which he said may be the so-called "canals" that have stirred scientific controversy since an astronomer first reported seeing them in the 19th century. The Mariner spacecraft may settle the dispute once and for all.

In Houston--More Tests. Briefing Time

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI)—Armed with new reports that moon soil is different, biologists today once again attempted to begin tests to determine if lunar dust shelters germs that could endanger life on earth.

That possibility is slim, said Dr. M. D. Kandau, president of the World Health Organization, but he said studies at Apollo 11's Lunar Receiving Laboratory are of "paramount importance for medical science."

Astronauts Neil A. Armstrong, Michael Collins and Edwin E. Aldrin, the first men exposed to the dark powder of the moon's surface, passed their latest blood test Wednesday. Their doctor said they are as normal as when they began they're moon landing expedition two weeks ago.

"We have a tremendous lot of negative data which of course is quite gratifying to us," said Dr. Craig L. Fischer, one of two physicians living in isolation with the moon pilots.

The astronauts' agenda today called for more reports on their epic adventure. But instead of talking to tape recorders, they were briefing Apollo 12 astronauts Charles Conrad, Richard F. Gordon and Alan L. Bean, and the rest of the Apollo pilots corps.

Apollo 12 is scheduled to blast off from Cape Kennedy Nov. 14 and land on the Ocean of Storms, the vast sea on the western side of the moon's earth-facing hemisphere. Armstrong and Aldrin landed on the eastern Sea of Tranquillity while Collins orbited overhead.

Today's biologicol testing concentrated on injecting moon dust mixed with water into the abdomens of a dozen, germ-free white mice. Dr. Norman D. Jones, veterinarian in charge of the experiment, said another dozen mice were being used as control specimens, with plain water being injected into six and six left untouched.

The object of the initial testing was to see if the ground lunar rock matter contains poisonous chemicals or infectious organisms.

After an observation period lasting from 12 to 36 hours, 240 more mice will be exposed to the material along with 120 quail as scientists look for signs of extraterrestrial life.

The tests had been set to start Wednesday, but were delayed because of a minor plumbing problem in the $11.5 million building housing both the astronauts' quarters and the lunar sample laboratories.

Mistaken for Sec. Rogers

U.S. Envoy Attacked at Tokyo Airport

TOKYO (UPI)—Armed with a dagger and disguised as a newsman, a Japanese college student tried today to attack Secretary of State William P. Rogers but set upon U.S. Ambassador Armin H. Meyer instead.

Police said the youth apparently mistook Meyer for Rogers, never having seen either of the American diplomats.

The assailant knocked Meyer, 55, to the ground in his charge up the gangway during sendoff ceremonies for Rogers at Tokyo International Airport. The ambassador was not hurt.

U.S. Secret Service men and Japanese security guards disarmed the youth quickly and whisked him into a police car. He was arrested.

Rogers' bodyguards hustled the secretary of state aboard his plane and it departed for Seoul at 2:06 p.m. Shaken but smiling, Meyer went home, telling newsmen he had not been hurt.

Japanese Foreign Minister Kiichi Aichi went to the U. S. Embassy 75 minutes after the attack and expressed his government's regrets. The embassy said it appreciated the quick work of Japanese police in the incident.

The assailant was identified by Police as Shioeji Hamaoka, 21, a college student. He was held on charges of carrying a weapon without a permit and assault with a dangerous weapon.

Rogers had just completed three days of talks with Japanese officials concerning trade relations and the return of Okinawa from U.S. to Japanese hands. He is hitting most of the Asian captals President Nixon missed on the presidential tour.

Hamaoka also faced charges of entering the airport's boarding area illegally. He refused to tell police interrogators why he attempted the attack on Rogers.

Pope on His 8th Trip Abroad - - - May Prove to Be Most Important

ROME (UPI)—Pope Paul VI flew to Africa today on an historic mission that underscored his determination to find a solution to the Nigerian civil war.

The 3,145-mile flight to Kampala, Uganda, is the first African visit by a modern Pope. For the 71-year-old Paul, it was the eighth trip abroad since his election in 1963.

The Pope intended to pay homage to Africa's first Christian martyrs, 22 men who died last century at the hands of a half-crazed king who wanted to stamp out Christianity.

At the same time, the Pope was undertaking the three-day visit to dramatize his concern—and the Vatican's—for a part of the world where war, poverty, racial discrimination, hunger and illiteracy are endemic.

The pontiff has focused greatest attention on efforts to settle the two-year Nigerian civil war.

The pontiff flew to Kampala, the capital of the East African state of Uganda, in a super VC10 of East African Airways. The plane carried the pontifical insignia on its doors and was specially refitted with a private suite for the Pope.

Awaiting the pontiff at Entebbe Airport on the shores of Lake Victoria were six African chiefs of state, bishops and clergy from all over the continent and thousands of citizens who came by bus and plane from points as distant as Kenya and Tanzania.

Also on hand were official delegations from Nigeria and Biafra. The Pope has said he would like to meet with them on settling the two-year-old civil war.

At Namugongo, about seven miles from Kampala, some 3,000 pilgrims set up a tent city near the site of the shrine the Pope will consecrate Saturday.

A group of 22 barefoot men arrived there Wednesday after a 200-mile walk from the bush village of Gulu.

Probe of Budge Offer Sharpens

WASHINGTON (AP) — Partisan fighting has sharpened the Senate probe into possible conflict-of-interest charges against Securities and Exchange Commission Chairman Hamer H. Budge.

A party-line split developed even before the first witness testified Wednesday during a hearing into Budge's consideration of a lucrative job offer with a group of mutual funds regulated by the SEC.

Democrats on the Senate banking and currency subcommittee questioned the propriety of Budge's actions and Republicans argued the President Nixon appointee was being convicted before being tried.

The hearing recessed before Budge could testify about the offer of the presidency of six Minneapolis-based funds managed by Investors Diversified Services Inc. He was told to return to the subcommittee Monday to present his case.

Other testimony, said Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., showed "a gross, clear, transparent conflict of interest."

This drew a rebuke from Sen. Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass., who said, "On the evidence we've had so far, you can't even in common sense come to that conclusion."

The president of the funds, Harold Bradford, testified Budge rejected the presidency on two occasions and "at no time" solicited the job.

Minutes of a board meeting of fund directors—read by subcommittee chairman Sen. Harrison A. Williams Jr., D-N.J.,—quoted a company lawyer as saying Budge told him "he would like to accept the offer but his boss (Nixon) might like him to stay on the job till he finds a successor."

The presidency would have paid $80,000 a year to F[illegible], who earns $40,000 annually as SEC chairman.

Proxmire and Sen. Thomas J. McIntyre, D-N.H., said the significant aspect of a possible conflict of interest was that Budge was negotiating for a job at the same time the SEC was advising Congress on legislation which would drastically revise mutual fund regulations and have a strong bearing on the funds' business.

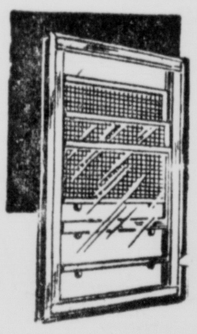

Sen. Wallace F. Bennett, R-Utah, argued, "T' fact is, he rejected the offer and I think we are going into this thing backwards."

Proxmire said Budge should have refused to negotiate at all.
